Manitoba Exposure Victim
Was Searching For Cattle

WINNIPEG (CP)—A young farm woman died of exposure after being lost in the bush of west-central Manitoba for almost a day during a sleet storm, it was revealed today. The victim, Irene Mengeson, 20, of Camperville, was first reported missing late Tuesday. She failed to return to her parents' farm home after going in search of cattle which had strayed into the bush.

House Session Postponement Seen Likely

Revision of plans for the Royal visit next month may force postponement of the special session of the B.C. Legislature.

The session had been called for Oct. 22 but it now appears that date may clash with the visit of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

A high-level government party was called today on the question, but no decision on a postponement was made. The government hasn't received official notification of the revised itinerary.

It is more likely the session will be held after, rather than before, Oct. 22.

Allies Hit Red Artillery In Mountains

U.N. COMMAND, KOREA (AP)—Allied navy and air force fighter-bombers today smashed home attacks on Communist artillery dug in on the mountain slopes of eastern Korea.

Thirty-two F-51 Mustangs and 24 navy Corsairs dropped napalm firebombs and high explosives on the Reds in the "heartbreak ridge" area.

Communist fire slackened off at once. In the third straight day of aerial dogfights, 34 F-86 Sabre jets tangled with 50 Russian-type Mig jet fighters and damaged two of the Red planes. One Allied warplane was damaged but returned safely to base.

The Far East air forces reported this three-day battle score: Reds' losses, 26—Five shot down, two probably destroyed, 19 damaged.

Cigarettes Up Two Cents On Oct. 1

Sales Tax To Be In Addition

MONTREAL (CP)—Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada Ltd. today announced a 2 cents increase in the package price of 20 cigarettes. The increase becomes effective Oct. 1.

The company formerly sold a package of 20 cigarettes for 40 cents. The new price will be 42 cents plus provincial sales tax. A company spokesman said that manufacturing costs, the principal items being leaf tobacco, labor and packaging materials, have increased. Transportation costs, selling costs and taxes also have advanced and combined with the increased cost of manufacturing made a price increase unavoidable.

He said that "Out of the price increase approximately one-third goes to the wholesale and retail trade and of course, the Federal Government also participates directly due to the 10 per cent sales tax. What then remains is required to meet the rise in costs experienced by the company. The company's new price to the trade will go into effect with shipments made on and after October 1."

MacDonald Tobacco Company declined to comment when asked whether they would boost cigarette prices or not. Benson & Hedges officials said they did not plan a price increase at this time.

Tornado Kills Seven In U.S. Middle West

WAUPACA, Wis. (AP)—The spiraling black finger of a tornado dotted a line of death and ruin across two rural areas in central Wisconsin yesterday, taking seven lives.

Due eastward across Lake Michigan from the state, another tornado struck the village of Briteley, Mich., at night and left one woman dead. The lower part of Wisconsin's Waupaca County was ripped by a "roaring and terrifying" twister which killed six persons and injured at least three. Four of the victims, members of one family, were carried into a swamp a quarter-mile from there the tornado engulfed them. Then some 45 minutes later—6:30 p.m. E.D.T.—about 50 miles to the south—a funnel-shaped cloud hopped across a 15-mile path in Columbia County, killing a woman and injuring her three children by picking up their farm home and smashing it down 250 yards away. Seven others were reported injured.

Korea Vets In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Twenty-five Korean veterans of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry arrived here today, army headquarters announced.

The army originally said 15 of a scheduled 25 would arrive last night but changed that to 25 today.

They will receive 30 days' leave and then begin paratroop training at Rivers, Man.

Arrivals were: Lt. J. J. Regan, Vancouver; Cpls. A. Reil, Winnipeg; J. W. Miles, Toronto; J. P. Mues, Yarmouth, N.S.; D. L. Ames, Sudbury, Ont.

Ptes. A. Baglole and C. P. Doyle, both of Charlottetown, P.E.I.; R. G. Bouvier, St. Boniface, Man.; G. J. Burns, G. A. Campbell, C. E. Clarke, V. H. Keslo, all of Ottawa; C. P. Huffman, C. E. U.S. Ask Iran To Cancel Expulsion Of Oil Experts

'FOREIGN' WEATHERMAN BRINGS GLOOMY OUTLOOK

Is the new Gonzales weatherman to blame? First weather forecast issued by George McPherson from the Vancouver weather office, here to take Victoria weatherman William Mackie's place while Mr. Mackie enjoys a holiday, calls for "cloudy and cool, a few showers today and Friday."

Temperatures will reach a high of 58 today, and 60 on Friday, with the overnight low to be 50.

You can blame the Vancouver weatherman, or a layer of moist Pacific air that would have arrived anyway.

Two Vancouver Men Injured In Marine Workers' Strike

VANCOUVER (CP)—A clash between pickets and members of the Marine Workers' Union, charged that Loop attempted to drive his car through the picket line, pushing Newland in front of the vehicle until he fell.

White and other members of the Marine Workers' picket line said they pulled Loop from the car to prevent the rear wheels of the vehicle from running over Newland.

Frank Loop, father of the injured carpenter's union member, said "my son stopped his car at the picket line and when they tried to upset it he drove on. They smashed the window of the car, dragged him out and beat him up."

There were conflicting reports on the clash.

Attempting To Prevent 'Explosion'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has appealed to Iran to cancel its order for expulsion of British oil experts from Abadan, the great Iranian refinery centre.

The State Department, disclosing this today, also said the U.S. has advised both Iran and Britain that "it stands ready to render any assistance it can in helping them to find a settlement" of the Anglo-Iranian oil crisis.

President Truman expressed the American point of view in a personal message to Prime Minister Attlee of Britain, delivered through the U.S. Embassy at London today. It replied to an Attlee appeal to Truman yesterday.

The State Department said the U.S. views were given to Iran by Ambassador Loy Henderson who has been in contact with Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh.

Stratocruiser Flight From London Scheduled

LONDON (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will leave for their delayed Canadian tour by air Oct. 7, they announced today.

Their original plans to leave from Liverpool Sept. 25 by sea, arriving in Quebec City Sept. 2, were cancelled because of the King's illness.

They will begin carrying out their schedule at Quebec City Oct. 9. This means there will be only a one-week delay caused by delay of the trip.

King Signs Warrant Giving Family Powers

Doctors Say Monarch Is Getting Stronger

LONDON (Reuters).—The King tonight signed a warrant appointing five members of his family as Counsellors of State who would have power to sign state documents on his behalf.

The five are: the Queen, Princess Elizabeth, Princess Margaret, the King's brother, Duke of Gloucester, and the Princess Royal, the King's sister.

The King's doctors said today he is stronger and his appetite is improving.

Their morning bulletin, the eighth since a serious lung operation Sunday, said the King had a better night and that his progress is continuing.

The bulletin, signed by four of the King's doctors and the surgeon who performed the operation, said:

"After a better night the King is stronger, his appetite is improving and progress continues. The encouraging report was issued as the monarch entered a new danger period in his fight for recovery."

Reports from inside Buckingham Palace, which termed the next 72 hours "vital," indicated two doctors are keeping a constant watch.

Palace sources also said the Queen has indicated she wants to be called at any hour if the King asks for her.

Some London medical specialists speculated that today—the fifth day since the King's operation—is the beginning of the second danger period. He passed the first danger phase Monday night.

St. Laurent Plans New Seaway Meet

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent is flying to Washington late today to talk to President Truman about Canadian proposals to proceed alone with development of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project, and "about other matters of common concern," his office announced today.

The Prime Minister's appointment with the president is for tomorrow morning and it is possible he will return to Ottawa immediately after the interview.

There has been a growing indication here that Canada would proceed alone with the seaway and power development, but certain co-operation is necessary from the United States authorities for such operations in international waters.

A spokesman said the royal couple will disclose later whether it will still be possible for them to carry out their plan to visit President Truman in Washington.

The announcement gave no details of present plans but it was assumed the trip would last about a month, as originally intended.

The announcement came in a statement from Clarence House, home of the princess and the duke.

Tonight's brief announcement merely said: "Arrangements are being made for their Royal Highnesses . . . to start their Canadian tour from Quebec Oct. 9. They will leave London by air Oct. 7."

It is understood the flight will be made in a B.O.A.C. Stratocruiser, which almost certainly will land at Montreal. Normal flying time for the 3,400-mile trip is just over 16 hours.

PLANE HAS SLEEPERS

The four-engine aircraft is double-decked and equipped with sleepers.

In view of the King's health, it had been considered possible here that the Canadian tour would be postponed until next year. Latest medical reports on his condition have been encouraging, however.

The princess and the duke originally intended to sail from Liverpool last Tuesday on the liner Empress of France.

They had planned to visit in Washington Oct. 24, 25 and 26. Presumably any change of plan would first be cleared with the White House.

The decision to reinstate plans for the tour after only a seven-day postponement apparently means that the King is believed to be making a normal recovery from his dangerous lung operation of last Sunday.

PRINCESS AT ASCOT

Another reason for thinking so was that Princess Elizabeth went to the races at Ascot today. It was the first time she had left London since a surgeon cut away all or a part of one of her father's lungs four days ago.

BETS OFF

Mainland Folk Call Race Off

Last week the Community Chest of Greater Victoria challenged the New Westminster Community Chest to a city-to-city pigeon race, with the loser to pay $100 to the winner.

It was to take place Oct. 1, when both cities will hold their one-night campaigns for funds.

But New Westminster has reneged. Bert Binny, local Chest campaign manager, telephoned New Westminster today on the race. The reception wasn't so good.

"Why, the fellow was rude enough to say that when we thought up the race we already had the shotgun loaded," Mr. Binny said.

"That's not true at all—we were going to use poison."

MAYOR ON ICE

The inter-city rivalry started when Mayor Toby Jackson of New Westminster challenged Victoria, saying that if the Royal City did not beat Victoria on a per capita basis in the drive, then he would sweep the Memorial Arena ice at a Cougar-Royal hockey game.

Mayor Percy George was quick to take up the challenge. He will sweep the Queen's Park Arena if Greater Victorians fail to trim the mainlanders.

While the pigeon race is off the birds may still serve the Community Chest here. The campaign committee is considering an exhibition to take place at the Parliament Buildings grounds with the co-operation of local pigeon fanciers, whereby the birds will make a flight in return for a contribution to the chest.

"All joking aside, we still want to beat New Westminster," Mr. Binny said. "It will be a red feather in our caps if we do."

TOBACCO AND TAXES

THE high cost of smoking has been causing a loud wail from both producers and consumers to echo around the Dominion in recent weeks and add to the general chorus of protests against the steadily rising cost of everything. According to an Ontario tobacco growers' marketing group, the high price of a packet of cigarettes has resulted in a decrease in cigarette sales of 17 per cent.

And, according to the same source, the only way to increase sales is to reduce the taxes which, in British Columbia, for instance, amount to 26 cents on a 41-cent packet of 20 cigarettes.

HIGHER ELSEWHERE

THAT is undoubtedly a high rate of taxation but, on the ground that misery loves company, Canadian smokers may be comforted to learn that the smoker in Britain is even harder hit. Canada's rate of taxation—26 cents out of 41 cents or 65 per cent—isn't as high as that over there, where out of 3s. 6d. charged for a packet of 20, the government takes no less than 2s. 9½, or roughly 80 per cent of the total cost.

Now I have no intention of entering into any discussion here as to whether such high taxes are warranted—either in Canada or in Britain—beyond reminding my readers that taxation is the only method by which governments, no matter what their political stripe may be, can raise the wherewithal to meet the ever-increasing demand for welfare measures and public services, plus defense.

So realizing that, I take the view that, as everything has to be taxed, it is better to place the higher impost on the luxuries of life rather than on the necessities.

NECESSITY OR LUXURY?

That, of course, will immediately provoke an argument between smokers and non-smokers as to whether tobacco is a luxury or a necessity. From time immemorial bards have carolled its praises. And those praises range from the paeon of a 17th century writer, Burton, who described it as "tobacco divine, rare, super-excellent tobacco, which goes far beyond all the panaceas, potable gold and philosopher's stones, a sovereign remedy for all diseases," to the frankly modern idiom of G. L. Hemminger, who puts it thus:

"Tobacco is a dirty weed. I like it. It satisfies no normal need. I like it. It makes you think, it makes you learn. It takes the hair right off your beard. It's the worst damn stuff I've ever seen. I like it."

BUT whether you look upon tobacco as a solace and panacea of all ills, or as a filthy weed deserving only of consignment to the garbage pail or compost heap, you can't get away from the fact that smoking, like the poor, will always be with us. And, because they have had to accept so many curtailments philosophically, Britons—or some of them, at any rate—are taking their own way of meeting its rising cost.

For more than 40,000 have not only been rolling their own for years but have also been growing their own. And just about now the 40,000 are sharpening up their axes to harvest the tough stalked crop they have been raising in their own backyards and gardens, a harvest which was expected to aggregate 150,000 pounds. (Smokable, too).

WHAT'S more, the National Amateur Tobacco Growers' Association claims that the product is eminently smokable, whatever some cynics may have to say. When the amateur growers started in three years ago, cartoonists, comedians and bar-room comics flung pails of ridicule at them, according to Eric Wainwright in the Daily Mirror.

And I can well imagine the witticisms about "Flor de Cabagiao" that were hurled at the home-made tobaccoists' heads, particularly in the light of the curing processes required to produce stuff that is admittedly an acquired taste.

VICAR'S IDEA

IT seems that you first have to catch your sound seed, then raise the plant in a ceaseless contest with cutworms, slugs, earwigs and snails—even as you and I. Then you have to seize the psychological moment to harvest the leaf, after which you ferment, mature and cure it.

That fermenting process rather puts me off any idea of tobacco-growing. You have to pack the leaves in boxes, cover them with old blankets and put them in a warm place—preferably under the bed—to ferment. Next you make it smokable by adding "scents, sauces and ingredients." All of which leads me to believe that the Ontario Blue-Leaf Tobacco Growers' Association needn't fear much competition from Canadian amateur growers, no matter how high cigarettes may go.

Higher Prices For Milk When Control Ended

Consumers' Group Hears Producers

Abolition of milk controls would mean lower prices in times of surplus but much higher prices when there were shortages.

Henry G. Robinson, secretary of the Vancouver Island Dairy-men's Association, stressed this claim at a public meeting in City Council chamber Wednesday night of the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers.

Several persons at the parley urged abolition of the Milk Board and a return to free enterprise for the milk industry.

"Abolition of the Milk Board at this time would send prices much higher," Mr. Robinson warned.

The meeting took no action. Chairman Mrs. H. L. Smith made it clear it was not a protest meeting.

Dr. Robert Clarke, one of three speakers, told the group skip-a-day delivery is the only way to cut the cost of milk distribution. Use of cardboard containers is impracticable in Victoria, and pooled delivery service would result in a negligible saving, he said. The speaker said he could give no opinion on savings effected through cash-and-carry sales.

The paper said Russian authorities became angry at Niedergall when he requested they replace their present garrison in Weimer, which is alleged to contain many undisciplined elements.

Mr. Valcourt was asleep when the fire started. Choking smoke awakened him and he escaped by smashing a ground-floor window.

Mrs. Valcourt, visiting her daughter's home 50 feet away, saw the fire and rushed into the house to awaken her husband.

After getting out the window, Mr. Valcourt re-entered the house to bring his wife out.

Fifteen Langford Volunteer Fire Department personnel, led by Chief Rodney Bayles, and deputy Ritchie LeQuenne, attended. They believe there was a delay in sending in the alarm as the house was a solid mass of flames when they arrived.

Sewer Cheque From Saanich Settles Bill

City of Victoria is richer by $75,000.

John B. Tribe, Saanich municipal clerk, today mailed a cheque for that amount to the city in payment for its share of the northwest sewer.

The debt stems from an agreement made in 1917 when the city and Saanich undertook to share the cost of building one large sewer to serve residents of both areas.

Saanich share of the cost was $40,000, which grew at five per cent to more than $100,000 as Saanich ratepayers continued to turn down sewer by-laws.

Last year the city council offered Saanich a flat charge of $75,000 to clear the debt if the deal could be finalized by March 31, 1951.

It was finally completed through the passing of a $2,100,000 sewer by-law by Saanich electors in 1950.

His Honor, Surrounded By Nurses, Says, 'I've Been Doing It For Years'

Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace was surrounded by nurses yesterday. But His Honor was far from ill.

In the afternoon, the nurses who attended him were Red Cross nurses, working with the blood transfusion clinic. The Lieutenant-Governor went to the clinic to donate to the provincial blood bank when he heard contributions here were falling off.

It was not Mr. Wallace's first time at the clinic.

"I've been doing it for years," he confided. "There's nothing to it."

Wednesday evening the Lieutenant-Governor was surrounded by a whole army of nurses. It was at the Royal Victoria Theatre where the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace appeared as chief patrons, at the Canadian premiere showing of "The Lady With a Lamp."

The picture, dealing with the life of Florence Nightingale, drew a capacity audience. Fittingly enough, many of those seeing the picture were nurses.

Victoria's three main hospitals were well represented. A block of seats in the centre of the main floor was taken over by nurses in uniform. For some of the first-year students among the group, the premiere offered the first opportunity to wear newly-won caps and cloaks.

Nurses from most up-land hospitals were represented and there were many graduate nurses in the audience as well.

Explains work Before the start of the film, the audience was addressed by Miss Alice Wright, executive secretary of the Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia.

The theatre was decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting lent by the Royal Canadian Navy.

Three Hurt In Traffic Crashes

Three persons were injured in traffic accidents in the city Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell 54, of 248 Douglas Street, and William C. Warren 73, Saanich R.R. 1, were treated for minor injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police said they were injured in a collision between cars driven by Betty D. Cobbold 248 Douglas, and Warren at Belleville and Blanshard Streets.

George W. Sommer, 762 Canterbury Road, was treated at Jubilee Hospital for a cut on the right arm. He was cut when the car he was driving was in collision with one in charge of William Kendrick, Parksville, at Pandora Avenue and Douglas Streets, police said.

Near The Danger Point

EVEN THE CASUAL READER OF recent reports from the Korean war theatre will have noted the increasing prominence of dispatches telling of enemy ground offensive. Since the first enemy ground offensive was stemmed and the United Nations began the long and dogged struggle to safeguard South Korea and secure an effective peace for the whole peninsula, we have enjoyed air superiority. For many months our bombing and strafing aircraft operated with virtual immunity in the air. Only ground defenses provided opposition to their attacks.

It became apparent that the North Koreans and later the Chinese were to carry on their fight without full benefit of Russia's air power, however great a handicap this might be. Similarly, Russian sea power, particularly submarines, was withheld from the fight. It was gradually accepted as a matter of course that this condition would continue, that U.N. ground forces would not be bombed, provided the United Nations observed a similar official convention not to bomb Manchuria or the cities of China proper. That, until recently, was the situation.

On that basis the commentators have constructed the thesis, and it appears to be a logical one, that current Russian policy is deliberately to restrict the scope of the war. As a corollary of this, however, they speculate that an enlargement of Korean action—to include, for instance, direct air attacks on United Nations positions—would induce the Kremlin to have cast the die and decided to enter what in all likelihood would be World War III.

The latest air battles give the point some immediacy. Are they the precursors of still greater enemy concentration on air offensives? Will they broaden, either by design or through the natural extension of war, into the form of attack that will herald full participation of the Red air force?

So far the dispatches contain little mention of air attacks against U.N. ground positions or convoys. But the dog fights, involving the latest in jet planes of both sides, are enlarging their scope. Reports yesterday told of "history's greatest day of jet battles," with some 250 planes seeing action. One battle involved 77 Allied jets and 120 Russian-type MIG's, with firing opening at nearly two miles distance. Under such conditions of space and speed the casualties are understandably light, but the enemy planes, although making off in apparent defeat, at least achieved their objective of forcing U.N. bombers to jettison their bomb loads before they had reached the proper position for their runs on the target.

It takes no great military strategist to recognize the forces at work, the expenditures of men, money and materials that must go into such gigantic operations. Whether the Communists will be content to restrict them to dog fights, ignoring possible targets on the ground, presents a tantalizing problem. Whether the U.N. command can afford, in the face of mounting Red strength, to fight the enemy air force only in the air, refraining from the obvious course of smashing their bases in nearby Manchuria, is an equal problem.

History shows that few wars can long remain within the bounds of such unofficial, tacit understandings. While the comparative stalemate continues on the ground in the neighborhood of the 38th parallel answers to these questions may be avoided. But they will become increasingly critical if the United Nations forces proceed with their current slow but steady push northward. Faced with a local defeat, the Communists might choose to bring the world down with them.

Asking For Too Much?

TRADES UNION OPINION APPEARS divided on the advisability of the strike that has been called against three local shipyards by the boiler-makers bargaining organization. Ten other union groups associated with the industry have signed contracts specifying a 35 cents an hour wage increase, as well as holiday pay adjustments. The boiler-makers are demanding a 50-cent raise, the companies having offered the same terms as the other unions received. An increase double that which proved acceptable to the other groups would seem, under the circumstances, difficult to justify. That it has not full approval from workmen in general is shown by the fact that picket lines were crossed at two of the yards and opinion appeared favorable to support only if the strike were to be a short one.

The boiler-makers have been receiving $1.60 an hour. The company offer would raise this to $1.85 and the union demand is $2.10. Four dollars a day, at one time a fair basic wage rate in itself, would be a sizeable addition to any pay envelope even in these days of inflation.

Blunt Words In Australia

AUSTRALIA'S FEDERAL TREASURER, Sir Arthur Fadden, spoke bluntly to his countrymen this week when he announced sweeping new taxes to meet the nation's defense costs. The government, he said, "makes no apology for giving you a budget that will entail sacrifice."

The tax increases are substantial. They may help to siphon off some of the reservoir of purchasing power that has been driving prices up in the Commonwealth, but the load in government expenditure itself—domestic costs inherited from the previous socialist administrations coupled with defense financing, presents unusual complexities.

The treasurer reported an increase of 35 per cent in the national income in the last financial year. In other words, Australia, facing a serious inflation, had that much more money chasing up prices of goods in short supply. Taxes, of course, reduce the spending account of the nation. The difficulty will not be overcome, however, until production provides more goods. That, in the opinion of some observers, is an issue further complicated in Australia by reported conditions in which employer blames employee for failure to do an honest day's work, and employee blames employer for inept labor management. Blame does not boost output.

There is small comfort to Canadians in the knowledge that inflation may be less severe than that in Australia. There is, however, a warning from Sir Arthur Fadden that the "deluge of additional spending power (now present in Australia) threatens to overwhelm us."

The old truth is again apparent. The cure for inflation resides not in raising the national income but in making available to it a sufficiency of goods. Greater production is the answer.

Look Who's Applauding

EXCEPT IN THOSE QUARTERS where it may be magnified out of all proportions for its assumed value as political capital, there will be little inclination to make a mountain out of the molehill that is Ronald Worley's resignation from office in the Liberal executive here. If Mr. Worley found himself opposed to his former colleagues on matters of policy, he has taken the logical course. He has withdrawn from the executive. That does not constitute a serious split in Liberal ranks.

An element of humor is added to the situation, however, by the endorsement Mr. Worley's action has won from Mr. Les Bewley. And who is Mr. Bewley? He is the immediate past president of the Young Progressive Conservatives, and the chief organizer in W. A. C. Bennett's campaign last year to take over the party leadership from Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb. Why wouldn't he applaud?

Within The National Grasp

THE EARL OF SANDWICH, COULD have little imagined the consequences of his hasty act, some 200 years ago, in calling for a slice of meat to be served between two slices of bread, in order that his meal should not interfere with the completion of a card game in which he was engaged. With that innovation he set a style that has developed ever since, from a score of new forms, and become, for thousands of people, a standard type of nourishment.

It was not to be expected that the sandwich would remain in its original form, although most of its changes appear to be of relatively modern origin. It was typically human of us, however, that we should have converted this dish, if it may be so called, from its convenient one-hand style, back into a full-course hot meal laden with gravy, vegetables and all the accompaniments of the roast meat which forms the main ingredient. That, surely, is something the card-playing earl could not have envisioned.

It is as the hot dog, however, that the sandwich has attained the full flowering of its destiny. As a quick snack, dripping mustard, as a more leisurely repast, complete with onion and assorted garnishes, it has no peer on this continent. Beyond a food, it has become an institution. How many hunger-inducing sports may owe their popularity to the handy aid of the frankfurter and bun cannot be estimated. How many thousands of roadside emporiums, lunch counters, strolling vendors owe their livelihood to its popularity cannot be guessed.

In the United States alone, a publication tells us, almost one billion pounds of frankfurters are manufactured each year, mainly for the bun-in-hand trade. One small refreshment stand at Coney Island alone sells five tons of the sausage on a typical summer weekend.

On an average, an American eats 70 to 80 hot dogs a year, and it was not without guile that Rita Hayworth's press agent had her, on her return from an extended visit overseas, claim a hot dog as her one big need on setting foot again in the United States. With that one request she re-established herself, high-born husband or no, as a 100 per cent American. She was one of the people, a native returned, and no form of angel cake or humble pie could better have proved it.

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

LIKE most other men, I sometimes wish I could draw pictures. And I do draw pictures, too, and once sold a very small drawing to Punch, though it depended on a feeble pun in the text and not at all on its artistic merits, which were nil. But I wish I could draw in some inspired manner, to get the intoxicating juice out of jokes and situations for which mere words are not enough.

For example, there was a headline in this very Journal last summer... something about Sanitation Head Raps Situation. The idea of a head rapping a situation would comfort any man who was master of his pencil. I can see it from here. But I can't draw it, dammit. Incidentally, this rapping business has been going on in the headlines for a generation or more. I am surprised we can't hear the tap-tap-tap of the raps. Any time a public figure dislikes something, he is said to rap it.

I AM NOT LIKELY to forget the headline during an election in Vancouver years ago. There is a riding called Vancouver Centre, and one paper or another, I forget which, claimed that JOHNSON RAPS FARRIS IN CENTRE. How vividly this assault captures the imagination! You can see Mr. Farris doubled up with a stabbing pain in his centre, while Mr. Johnson dances around him, looking for an opening for another rap. Yet all the paper meant was that Mr. Adam Smith Johnson didn't particularly care for Mr. J. W. de B. Farris, which everyone knew to start with, since they worked for rival gangs of politicians, only too anxious to loathe each other in case there was a real difference between them.

IN THE SPECTATOR of Aug. 17 there is a letter to the editor from a dear old person (or a dear young one, I know not which, and do not care), and this cleric says: "May I gild the lily with a simple saw?" Now, a person may not know that one paints the lily, while gilding refined gold, for this quotation comes not from the Bible, where the layman most expects it, but from Shakespeare's play "King John." Still, I'd much rather gild lilies with a saw than gild gold with it. And if I could draw a picture of a clergyman gilding lilies with a saw, I'd be the happiest man this side of Lambeth Palace.

SO SOLLY

MR. CECIL SOLLY is as good a garden expert as you'd find in a summer's day, or an autumn day either. But when he tells me (as he does in Western Homes) to use old ketchup bottles to scare moles away, I beg to be excused. The idea is to sink these revolting objects around your tulip beds, etc., with only an inch or two of their ugly necks showing. The wind (when there is one) will whistle ominously across their gaping mouths, and this will frighten the living daylight out of any mole who doesn't like the sound of a wind crossing a ketchup bottle. And being put off his grub that way, he'll ignore the tulip bulbs and head for home.

A MOLE'S HOME may be a dreary place, very like the grave, but at least it isn't surrounded with thousands of whistling ketchup bottles. And the same may be said for my own home. It doesn't get cluttered up with one ketchup bottle per year, and thank heaven for that. I prefer to take my benzoin of soda in other forms. And to fringe my tulip beds in other ways. I believe I still have a bottle of mushroom ketchup in the larder, and very nice, too, but this is incapable of molesting music. For tulip beds, you need tomato ketchup bottles. I'll say one thing about Mr. Solly, though, he spells the word properly as ketchup, with none of your catsup nonsense. It is an Indian word, not an English whim-wham.

THE CRITIC

I WAS READING the other day about the B.C. censor of movies, who was a barber in civil life before he got militant and took to denouncing P's and Q's for us. He has seen something like 20,000 movies in the last few years, which serves him right. The paper says he can recall the plot of nearly every show he has seen. If that is so, how in the world does he recall the title, which is not only meaningless, but very like any other title? And if he can't recall the title, how does he attach his memory of the plot to anything capable of being named? However, I think I know what the paper means. All movie plots are much alike. I am a pretty sure I can recall all the plots ever filmed. There are six or seven of them, out of the 36 possible dramatic situations. And Yvonne de Carlo couldn't ruin any of them, the state they're in now.

I HOPE the film censor who remembers all these plots doesn't go round telling his friends about them. If there's anything I hate worse than a small boy telling me the plot of a movie he's seen, it's having a grown-up tell me. People telling you about the books they've read are bad enough, but people telling you dramatic plots are murder. Of course it's mildly interesting to see a chap fancy he has suddenly become interesting. But a little goes a long way. Little Brocky goes a long way when the chap gets wound up, too. Rather than hear the plot of the latest movie he's seen, I'd rather beg my guest to bring her five ghastly children to tea.

SOB STORY

I ONCE KNEW a farmer who was so poor, he lacked the plane fare to get him back from his Pasadena hotel to the Regina hotel from which he managed his farm. So he had to stay in California all summer, playing roulette. And he dropped me a line, saying the price of roulette was something cruel these days, and the government ought to step in and take it over, what with the price of feed (which of course is grown in the cities only), so that nobody could make a profit except himself. This letter touched me a lot... it touched me for double postage, being unstamped.

An old-timer is the one who can remember when nothing surpassed a moonlight picnic and hay ride.

Trouble With The Flying Carpet

As Our Readers See It

CORRECTS FIGURE

Will you permit me to correct what is obviously a typographical error in the otherwise excellent report of my talk on British parliamentary personalities given before the Laurier Club on Monday evening? I refer to the paragraph alluding to Sir Waldron Smithers, which read:

"He is reputed to have asked 15,000 questions in his 26 years in the House, and at £2,000 a question it's an expensive business."

That £2,000 should have read £2. NANCY HODGES.

STERN MEASURES

You write editorially as if the money spent on pensions is to be taken out of the country and lost. But we know that in reality it will all be circulated in trade channels, mainly for food, clothes, and shelter.

We may grant that the aged will not produce this wealth themselves. Producers will have to keep them, along with numerous other non-producers of wealth. Even if they are kept in jail or poorhouses the cost would probably be as high. But have we any other solution than to keep them at whatever cost?

If there is none, then let us stop promoting longevity and adopt the ancient Eskimo practice, or the one used by the late unlamented Adolf Hitler.

VETERANS' PENSIONS

Your issue of 12th inst. contained a news item stating that Col. Brooks, member of Commons for the "Royal" constituency of New Brunswick, has called for re-establishment of a veterans' committee to consider increases in basic pensions of veterans and war veterans' allowances.

The situation presently existing in this connection is deplorable.

Old age pensions will be as Jan. 1 next, be free from any restrictions as to assets or earnings. The war disability pension is likewise free from restrictions in the same connection.

Veterans receiving W.V. Allowance are, however, restricted to an extent that necessarily results in penury and hardship. The married veteran in this category receives $70 monthly, and his earnings, inclusive of the allowance, must not exceed $1100 per annum.

If the coffers of the Dominion treasury are sufficiently replete to admit of old age pensions without means test, it seems incongruous to restrict the veteran to an income totally insufficient to provide for the bare necessities of life, and penalize any effort that he may make to ameliorate his sorry condition.

It is to be hoped that the initiative of Col. Brooks may have concrete results.

MR. GRAY REPLIES

As every student of history knows, Carthage was the Hittite capital in biblical times, but I gathered from the author of "Phoenician Origin of the British" that, at some period of its history, it fell into the hands of the Phoenicians. It was certainly the latter, not the Assyrians, who landed in Scotland (according to him), bringing with them the kilts and the plumed headgear of the Highlander. Please note that I was careful to say: "The one-time capital of Phoenicia."

SUGGESTION

Kindly permit me your indulgence in making a suggestion regarding the cost of entertainment of the Royal visitors, who will be our Canadian guests.

I intend this expenditure should be the prerogative of the wealthy Canadians who are public spirited in footing the bill.

Might I ask who entertains our Royal guests but the elite, and wealthy Canadians. This being a fact this entertainment cost should be taken care of by the wealthy classes.

I know the wealthy and public spirited Canadians very well and if this matter was properly placed before them, they would subscribe from coast to coast across Canada to defray this entertainment on prepared lists bearing the names of those who donated.

HUNTING LICENSES

I am sure the great majority of your readers will heartily endorse your editorial upon the subject—Hunters and Responsibility—and it is to be hoped that the authorities concerned will eventually take action in this vital matter. The careless issuance of hunting licenses has long been of concern to those people who are genuinely interested in the preservation of our wild animals and birds. In these days of spiralling costs it is extraordinary to note that such licenses can be obtained for the very modest sum of three dollars.

Another aspect of this matter is that the applicants for hunting licenses do not require to pass any kind of an examination, not even an eyesight test, a fact which may, to some extent, explain the numerous hunting accidents which we usually read about at this time of the year.

Everyone knows of the many forest fires which have caused, and continue to cause, grievous damage to the forests, the natural habitat of our wild life and it seems very strange that some of the so-called game "protective" organizations have not advanced the suggestion that, in view of these circumstances, the usual hunting season should be cancelled for this year.

Military Needs And Point Four

The Times (London)

THE Marshall plan is coming to an end; at the moment of General Marshall's own retirement from office it is fitting to acknowledge that the plan has achieved a more decisive improvement in the economic state of Europe than either its authors or its beneficiaries would have dared to predict, and at a smaller cost.

Mr. Truman said recently that when the plan was framed in 1947 it was thought that the degree of economic recovery contemplated could not be secured for less than $17,000 millions. The last request made by the Administration to Congress would have brought the total expended to $14,000 millions; this request, it is now clear, will not be met in full.

It is also clear that no new major effort to finance the economic advancement of the world is to be expected from the United States at present. The lines such an effort might have taken, if the world had been more fortunate, were indicated by Mr. Truman in his address to Congress when he took office for his second term in January, 1949.

It was then in Point Four of his "program for peace and freedom" that he outlined a project of "making the benefits of our scientific advances and industrial progress available for the improvement and growth of underdeveloped areas."

LOGICAL SEQUEL

Point Four was a bold logical sequel to the Marshall plan. It would, however, have required the dispensing of American aid on an entirely different principle to that followed in the past three years.

Economic aid under the Marshall plan went predominantly to a group of highly developed countries, partly because these countries together were strategically vital to the salvation of the western world, but in part also because they possessed the industrial skill and capacity which would enable them to make quick and effective use of the money expended.

Some important regions of the world are not in any such fortunate position; lacking economic skills and the apparatus of an industrial society, they fail to attract foreign investment except for petroleum and other mining enterprises, and their rate of domestic capital formation is low. They, rather than Europe, were the likely beneficiaries of American economic aid if the grand design of world recovery had not been interrupted by the danger of war.

DOMINANT FACTOR

Military needs have now become the single dominant factor in American economic policy overseas, and as a first result American aid will continue to flow preponderantly to Europe, because Europe in return can make the greatest immediate contribution to the common defensive power. Point Four, as a general and far-reaching policy, has substantially had to be deferred.

For their part, the European members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization can still expect immense benefit from the American program of aid even in its reduced form.

Their hopes of surviving the present international danger rest upon American military help and upon their own efforts, and if as has yet to be shown) their own efforts left nothing to be desired, the American help might yet prove decisive. They are bound to regret the insistence of Congress on cutting economic aid; they can reasonably argue that it is not entirely logical to offer weapons and withhold raw materials. There is, however, much that the Administration in Washington can do without gifts and outside the limits of Congressional appropriations to temper the economic wind to allies whose economies may be too fragile or whose command of the raw materials of economic life may be too slender to stand the strains of the next two years unaided.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TORIN

"FOR a long time," said the Elevator Man, "people have been saying that man is the only animal with a sense of humor. But there's increasingly strong doubts about that. For one thing, the other animals live with us, don't they? How could they do that without a sense of humor?"

And then we have laughing hyenas, grinning apes, cackling geese and other humorous friends. Even the horse laughs. It's pretty hard to say that man is the only one that can enjoy a joke. Come to think of it, nobody does say it but man. You want a little more unanimity on a thing like that before you take it for granted. It's a tall order to laugh off a libel against the whole of creation. Going up!

"I see," said the Elevator Man, "where the scientists have been investigating the laugh. That's something like a kid investigating a balloon. Once you take it apart to see what you've got, you haven't got anything. However, the boys with the microscopes and the test-tubes have it dotted out what kind of people use the various kinds of laughs. They say felines with frank, open natures (and mouths?) laugh a good, frank, open ha ha. Moody, gloomy people laugh he he. Undecided folks give out with hi hi. And strong generous people use ho ho. But the fella to look out for, they say, is the one who laughs with a hu hu. He's treacherous and dangerous. But they don't say what to do when a character uses the whole five methods—and anybody who ever went near a department store around Christmas time knows that Santa Claus uses 'em all. Going down!

"Folks naturally like a man with a ready laugh," said the Elevator Man, "except when he's laughing at them. Then they fall back on the comfort that he who laughs last laughs longest. It's like the old fella in church who stood up when the minister asked to see anybody who had conquered the sin of hatred. He was the oldest old geezer in the parish. You don't hate anybody at all?" asked the preacher. "No, not one," said the ancient. "That's wonderful. Tell us how you did it," said the minister. "Well," piped the old codger, "all them skunks who did me wrong, all them blankety-blanks I hated—'em prused for a triumph wheezing cackle—they're all dead!"

Two Bus Drivers Retire

A total of 79 years of service will end for two veteran B.C. Electric bus drivers Sept. 30. Geoff Noble, 1617 Jubilee Avenue, and Fred Hawkins, 3150 Davin Street, having reached retirement age of 65, are putting in their last few hours at the controls of their big buses, before hanging up their uniform caps for the last time.

Both started as trolley car operators, Fred Hawkins in 1907, Geoff Noble in 1913.

A four-year interruption in his trolley-driving took Geoff overseas in the First World War, where he served with the First Canadian Pioneer. He was wounded once in the leg. "Just a small one," he says.

Interviewed at the Garbally Road bus park, both drivers described their long years at the controls of street cars, then modern transport, as uneventful. Neither was ever involved in anything but a "few little bumps" during service with the company.

Weather Synopsis

VICTORIA SUNSHINE
RECORD TO DATE, 1951,
2,273.8 HOURS

SYNOPSIS — Gale winds are blowing in all northern coastal waters today as a Pacific storm crosses the Charlottes. Fresh southeast winds will spread southward along the coast during the day but gale force winds will be confined to waters north of Vancouver Island. Clouds from the disturbance cover most of the province and rain is falling along the north coast. Very little rain has as yet fallen along the southern coast but small amounts are expected this afternoon and evening.

Interior temperatures will be several degrees warmer today and tomorrow as warmer Pacific air returns to all sections of the province except the Cariboo and Prince George regions.

REGIONAL FORECASTS
VALID UNTIL MIDNIGHT
FRIDAY

VICTORIA — Cloudy and cool. A few showers today and Friday. Light winds. Low tonight and high Friday, 50 and 60.

WEST COAST — Cloudy and cool. Intermittent rain today, afternoon with occasional showers tonight and Friday. Light winds increasing by noon to southeast 30 and decreasing this evening to light southerly. Low tonight and high Friday at Estevan Point, 50 and 60.

VANCOUVER CITY AND GEORGIA STRAIGHT REGION — Cloudy. Occasional showers overnight otherwise a few showers today and Friday. Cool. Light winds except southeast 20 in Georgia Strait this afternoon and evening. Low tonight and high Friday at Vancouver airport, 45 and 62; Nanaimo, 50 and 61.

RAIN-MAKING DUE ON BIG-TIME SCALE

Local Weatherman Thinks It Won't Affect Victoria's Long Drought

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — Rain-making is coming to the Pacific Northwest's inland empire on a big-time scale.

The first generators already have been set in operation to try to "squeeze" all the rain possible from clouds over the upper Columbia River system's watershed. The hope is that enough rain may come to ease a serious power shortage which federal officials blame on any upper Columbia River water shortage.

This project, with a government agency picking up the cheque, is planned on a scale to make earlier cloud-priming efforts in the region look like a drop in the bucket.

Previous rain-making efforts in the northwest have been farmer-financed in restricted areas. The farmers are still squabbling over it and threatening lawsuits. Some content made-to-order rain for nearby wheat lands sloped over and wrecked fruit crops this summer.

Aim of the effort now being launched will be to bring copious rainfall to the dry hills of northwestern Montana and northern Idaho, where some of the Columbia River tributaries will feed it down to Grand Coulee and Bonneville dams on the Columbia.

(Victoria weather officials thought there was little likelihood that these rain-making experiments would have any effect here.)

WASHINGTON (UP) — Rep. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) today urged the immediate construction of eight fuel-burning electric plants in the Pacific Northwest as one means of solving the area's power shortage.

Jackson was to be the opening witness before a House public works committee for a bill he introduced authorizing the plants to be constructed by the Bonneville Power Administration. Secretary of Interior Oscar L. Chapman and Washington and Oregon Congressmen also were to testify.

Bruce Naylor Is Elected Student Head

See Manslaughter Trial Friday In Crash Death

Witnesses Describe Scene of Fatality Near Langford In Which Two Lost Lives

Charged with manslaughter involving the death of two companions, Gerard Lessard, 24, may be committed for trial Friday. He is on $2,000 bail.

Preliminary hearing in R.C.M.P. court Wednesday heard witnesses describe the scene of the crash near Langford July 20 in which Irvine Isaacson, 16, and Elmer Rotaas, 19, lost their lives.

Joseph McKenna, K.C., appearing for the accused, cross-examined witnesses closely, particularly those whose testimony would indicate that Lessard was occupying the driver's seat at the time of the accident.

Objections to his questions were raised on many occasions by the prosecutor, A. de B. McPhillips, appealing to presiding Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

12 WITNESSES

Twelve witnesses were called by the prosecution during the morning and afternoon sittings Wednesday.

High school teacher Donald G. MacDonald told the court that the accused Lessard had admitted at the accident scene that he was the driver of the death car.

He said he noticed "a strong odor of liquor in the car" when he reached in to turn off the engine, which was "racing."

He told of removing, from the open right-hand door, the uppermost of three bodies lying in a pile slanted toward the right side of the seat. He identified the first removed from the car as the accused.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

R.C.M.P. Constable Joseph Shepherd told the court that Lessard kept trying to get out of a police car in which he was being taken to St. Joseph's Hospital following the accident, and said the accused made further attempts to break away after arrival.

Constable Shepherd said he heard someone, whom he could not identify, saying to Lessard at the accident scene: "You were the driver of the car, weren't you?" He stated that the accused had answered, "Yes." He said the same question in the same words was put to Lessard some five minutes later by an unidentified man, and again he answered "Yes."

Const. Shepherd quoted Lessard as saying later, at the hospital, "I was not driving the car."

Counsel for the accused dwelt on the word "yes" in his cross-examination of Const. Shepherd. The witness said in answer to questions that he would not say he had heard the letter "s" when Lessard spoke the word, nor would he say he had not heard it. Lessard sustained a fractured jaw, among other facial injuries.

City Reception Plan For League Of Roses

League of Roses societies in the United States will visit the Lanca-shire and Yorkshire Society of Victoria next year.

Reginald Clarke, president of the local society, said plans are being prepared to give visitors from Los Angeles and Oakland a civic reception.

Officers elected at a recent meeting of the Victoria society are: Mr. Clarke, president; George Hawthorne, vice-president; Fred Allen, second vice-president; Andy Blamire, secretary; Howard Goodfellow, treasurer; Mrs. A. Jones, Mrs. F. Purcell, Mrs. Bessie Clarke, Mrs. G. Hawthorne and Mrs. McAlister, executive.

STOCK EXCHANGE VIEWED

LONDON (CP)—Open to the public on Saturday mornings this year for the first time in history, London Stock Exchange drew 7,000 visitors between May and mid-August. Top-hatted attendants acted as guides.

New Factory Sites Sought Outside City

Victoria Industrial Bureau is looking for new factory sites outside the city of Victoria.

This news was given directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce Wednesday by W. C. Mearns, chairman of the bureau.

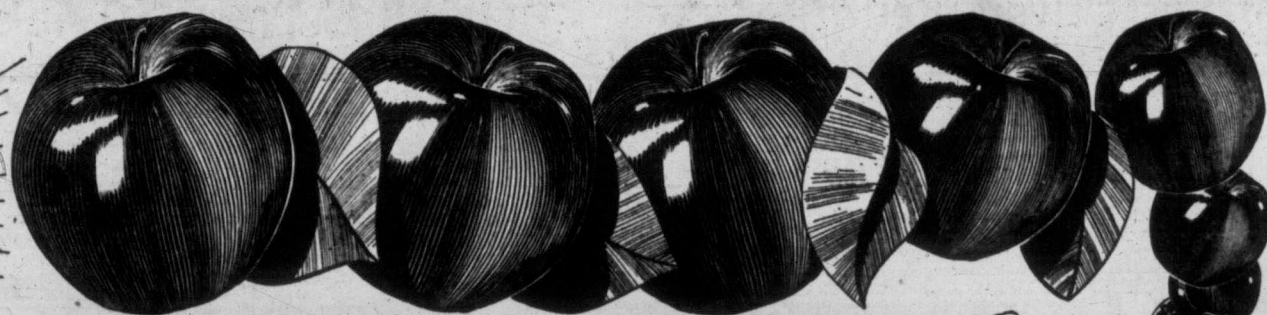

He said: "Victoria Harbor is now so crowded that we cannot ask new industries to come along and set up business there."

Mr. Mearns explained that his bureau intended to look around the other waterfront inlets in the Victoria district, and to select one of them as suitable for industrial development. Among the areas to be investigated are Saanich Inlet and Sooke Harbor.

"We have come to this conclusion," said Mr. Mearns, "because we are satisfied that if there is any more interference with log storage ground in the Victoria Harbor area, a severe hardship will be done to the existing sawmill operators."

COALITION WARMLY ATTACKED AND DEFENDED

Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, SEPT. 27, 1951 7

Anscomb Quite Unperturbed By Queries Or Fire Engine

Coalition was bitterly attacked at Metchosin, stoutly defended at Langford and cynically complimented on Esquimalt's roads at Luxton. But at View Royal the by-election candidate sang for support.

ANSOMB IN DUEL

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb duelled with a heated questioner Wednesday night at Langford. Outside, a fire engine pumped water on a near-by house ablaze. But the minister was unperturbed. The house burned to the ground.

"You've been patting yourself on the back about this $35,000,000 loan you got in the United States," a questioner recalled, "and telling how good you are at bullying, as you have here tonight. What happens," he wanted to know, "what happens when it comes to pay back the money?"

"We have to pay back in U.S. money, and the discount may be far higher than it is now," the questioner declared.

"It could also be much lower," Mr. Anscomb answered.

Mayor Percy George, Coalition candidate earlier had reviewed his quarter century of public service. He asked electors to consider it when casting their votes Monday.

Mrs. R. D. Harvey spoke in support of Mr. George.

Mr. Anscomb's address followed the pattern established by Coalition supporters throughout the campaign.

FEELS NO SHAME

"There's nothing the government has to be ashamed of," he said.

He called it "stupid" to try comparing B.C. road-building problems and costs with those of Saskatchewan, where, he said, "it's as flat as that floor. Main roads in B.C. cost $76,000 per mile to build," he said, while in Saskatchewan "they get away with $25,000 a mile."

BLAMES DOMINION

He went into an explanation of why the government borrowed $35,000,000 recently in the United States, blaming Dominion government credit restrictions for boosting the cost of borrowing in Canada, where he would have preferred to raise the money.

He outlined the government's expansion plans for the P.G.E. and its ultimate extension to the Peace River country, then launched into a spirited defense of the Coalition social security scheme. He said that B.C. voters had asked for it in a plebiscite, and challenged the audience to "raise your hands if you want it discarded." One hand showed.

SYMPATHY LOST

Coalition is "the hybrid offspring of a shotgun wedding" and was condemned as such Tuesday night.

Christian Helgeson, new-found supporter of Commander A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt independent candidate, speaking at Metchosin in the by-election battle, confessed himself a life-long Liberal. But the bureaucracy which had developed, he claimed, from Coalition government had lost the sympathy of the people.

Mr. Helgeson, old-time resident of Metchosin and Sooke, expressed keen disappointment that the present government, like all its predecessors since the early century, had failed to build the great West Coast Road.

There remains only a gap of 100 miles to complete the link with the east coast highway, he pointed out. But at the rate the governments had built it would take 300 years to complete.

G. F. Weston, of East Sooke, well-known novelist, told the meeting he had heard some socialist elements had asked the government to raise the sales tax. "Is it the intention of the Coalition to do so do you know?" he asked Cmdr. Wurtele.

BENNETT ANSWERS

He got an answer from W. A. C. Bennett, M.L.A. for South Okanagan, who commented the government might consider such a move. Mr. Bennett branded the tax vicious "based not on ability to pay but inability to resist."

Earlier Cmdr. Wurtele had outlined his policies briefly and asked support for his campaign of hospital insurance and liquor law reforms.

It was Mrs. T. J. Ralston, Vancouver-Point Grey M.L.A., who ruled the administration "the rule of the sawdust Caesars." "Men will wrangle for religion," she said, "fight for it, strive for it starve for it; but few will live for it. And the same thing I'm afraid, applies to mankind when they talk of democracy."

DEFENDS DEMOCRACY

Nevertheless, she was participating in the by-election campaign to defend democracy, in danger of damage if not loss in this province.

"That's why I support Cmdr. Wurtele," she declared. "He'll stand on his own two feet. And we've had enough government by Charley McCarthys down at the Parliament Buildings, who only move when strings are pulled."

Mr. Bennett, too, pulled out the stops.

"You might think" he suggested "the government would appeal at this time on its record or its policies. But they are afraid of their record, and they have no policies."

Referring back to Mr. Helgeson's West Coast Road dream, the Kelowna firebrand declared: "If this government had been on its toes, with the interests of the people at heart, the West Coast Road would have been part of the trans-Canada highway. The East Coast Road is already built. But where have the Island members been? What was the cabinet doing when it missed this opportunity?"

SINGS FOR SUPPORT

The revenue the government derives from the motorist should be given back to him in better highways.

This is the opinion of Keith Grey, Independent Labor candidate in the Esquimalt by-election, who Wednesday night addressed a View Royal meeting.

Campaigning as the "singing M.L.A.," Grey opened the meeting by singing his theme song, "Come Away With Me," composed by himself.

Grey criticized the public works minister for letting important roads get into poor shape.

ARROGANT GOVERNMENT

LUXTON — C.C.F. leader Harold Winch last night condemned the "arrogance" of the Coalition Government for letting Esquimalt riding be unrepresented for a year.

"My—how the roads have changed," he said. "There must be a by-election coming up."

Speaking at Luxton Hall in support of Frank Mitchell, C.C.F. candidate in the by-election, he claimed the Coalition had "forgotten we live in a democracy."

He also claimed, in reply to a recent remark by Finance Minister Anscomb that the C.C.F. was in its weakest condition ever, that it was weak only in the number of its members in the Legislature.

PUCK FANS SHOW FAITH IN COUGARS, ARENA

The faith of Victoria hockey fans is a thing of wonder. Even though there is still some doubt as to whether or not the Victoria Cougars will be able to open their home season as scheduled, latest figures show that 2,200 season tickets have been sold.

The Cougars were slated to open at home Oct. 8. Uncertainty about repairs to the ice-making machine seems certain to delay the date but fans are buying up the season tickets as fast as Cougar publicity man Leo Ornest can have them printed.

Vic High Team Set For Grind

By TED WHAN

Once again the Vic High cross-country team is rounding out into a championship squad. Under the excellent training program laid out by coach Gordon Hartley the team seems sure to be a leading contender for the annual Royal Roads four-mile grind which will be held in November.

Sportsmen Fair Great Help To Charity, Army

"The Solarium got a big bucket of money, the Red Cross got blood donors, the army got some new recruits and we are tickled pink."

That was Rocky Brooks' comment on the recent Sportsmen Show held at Memorial Arena over the week-end. Brooks was chairman of the show which was sponsored by the Esquimalt Lions Club.

The Solarium got a big donation through the kindness of the thousands of spectators who threw change into the huge tank at the show.

The Red Cross and army drew their donors and recruits through the medium of advertising in the form of exhibitor's stalls.

Rocky and the Lions Club were happy because the show went over successfully in spite of a mechanical failure that could have meant disaster. Brooks spent some anxious hours when the 75,000-gallon tank sprung a leak before the official opening of the show.

To add to the satisfaction of the backers was the enthusiasm of the exhibitors, some of whom have already reserved stalls for next year's show.

Montreal Whips Milwaukee Nine

MONTREAL (CP)—Milwaukee Brewers' much-touted batting power failed to come through last night as the American Association champions dropped the first game of the Little World Series 6-3 to Montreal Royals.

Lefty Chris Van Cuyk limited Brewers to seven hits in his seven and two-thirds innings on the mound. Those, along with the one relief pitcher Tommy Lasorda yielded in the ninth, were all singles.

Giants, Bums In Civil War

Pressure Grows As Teams Hit Stretch

NEW YORK (UP)—For the seventh year in the last eight, it appeared likely today that at least one of the baseball pennant races won't be decided until the last day of the season.

This time, with the Dodgers and the Giants involved, the madness is more intense than ever because the teams automatically hate each other and the feud has spread to the point where fellow subway strap hangers aren't speaking.

The arguments are loud and long but the facts boil down to a good bet for the battle of the big town to continue until the final putout on Sunday afternoon after both teams poured it on to win easy victories yesterday. The Giants won their fifth straight, crushing the Phillies 10 to 1 in a night game, while Brooklyn suddenly looked like a contender again after days of mediocrity, pummeling the Braves for a 15 to 5 victory.

Brooklyn, still protecting a one-game lead, plays the Braves for the final time today, while the Giants enjoy the first of two consecutive off-days. The Dodgers have four games to go and need to win three of them to clinch the pennant, even if the Giants win their remaining two games in Boston on Saturday and Sunday.

Thus, it is impossible for Brooklyn to win the flag before Saturday, highly unlikely for it to clinch before Sunday, and very probable that the race either will wind up in a tie—necessitating a three-game playoff—or that the Giants will win in the greatest stretch finish of all time.

Coach Hartley says: "This race will provide top competition for all runners and should give them valuable practice for the big race of the year, the annual Royal Roads event."

Other competitors who are reported to be in top condition are Don Burgess and Dick Wood of Vic High, and renowned distance runner Phil Taylor of Victoria College.

Coach Hartley says: "This race will provide top competition for all runners and should give them valuable practice for the big race of the year, the annual Royal Roads event."

Ruggers Draw Schedule, Regulations For Season

A seven-a-side tournament schedule was drawn up at the meeting of the Victoria and District Rugby Union last night. For the time being, the schedule is a tentative one.

The tournament will be held at Macdonald Park on Oct. 6 and will begin at 2:45. Entries in the contest are Crusaders, first and second team; J.B.A.A., first and second team; Victoria College and Wanderers.

The first-round games will find Crusaders' first and second teams battling with the first and second teams of J.B.A.A. Winners will meet Victoria College and Wanderers in the second round.

Both the first and second-round games will consist of two 10-minute halves with five-minute half-time periods.

Winners of the second round will face each other in the finals, which will be played in 15-minute halves with a five-minute half-time period.

All games will be played according to Rugby Union rules, with two-man scrums where the ball is rolled between the two forwards by a scrum half and may be kicked sideways, forward or back.

Night Classes To Feature Driver Education

Denis Brown, convener of the night school's driver education course to begin Tuesday points to accident map at police

DRIVERS BACK TO SCHOOL

Rule of Road Now Taught Like 3 R's

In driving a car as in everything else—education helps. Working on this theory, John S. White, director of the Greater Victoria evening classes, which open Oct. 2, has included in this year's extensive syllabus, a course in driver education. First lecture will be Tuesday night at Victoria High School from 7.30 to 8.30.

It has the complete endorsement of the city police department.

POLICE HAPPY
"It is definitely a step in the right direction," said Deputy Chief Harry Mercer. "The police department is happy to co-operate in any way possible. The more safety driving instruction, the safer our streets will be."

Sgt. Brooke Douglass, of the police traffic division, will be among the speakers. There will be 10 lectures in all. "This course is designed to promote an understanding of rules and methods of safe and lawful driving, to encourage better driving habits and to inform motorists how to get the most for their automobile dollar," Mr. White said.

The law versus the motorist, hazards of driving, the child and the car, driving in Victoria and elementary maintenance will be among topics. Denis W. Brown is convener.

SOLARIUM CHECK GIRLS PREFER TIPS FROM SPENDTHRIFT MALES

Next time there's a special show on at the Royal, members of the Solarium Junior League hope more men attend. Last night, at the premiere showing of "The Lady With a Lamp," the theatre was filled but the audience was 90 per cent women.

Women—the five young ladies operating the Junior League's check room service soon found—don't make good customers. Unlike male theatregoers, they prefer to take their coats in with them.

Result: Check room proceeds to aid the Solarium last night amounted to only $3.25.

War Over For Five Japs Recaptured On Lonely Guam Beach By Fishermen

AGANA, Guam (UP)—The Second World War was over today for five Japanese who hid in fear of their lives when this American outpost in the western Pacific was recaptured from our former Pacific enemies by Marines in 1944.

The five knew Japan had lost the war, they said, but feared shame and death from their own countrymen if they surrendered. Taira Koshuin, 39, civilian employee of the Japanese air force when Guam was retaken, said, "a quiet vegetarian life in Guam is better than Hara-Kiri or death at the hands of our people."

The five had lived seven years on a four-mile section of beach surrounded on three sides by precipitous cliffs and approachable only by sea along the rocky northwestern coast.

SLEEPING IN SAND

Koshuin was captured Tuesday night by two Guamanian fishermen who landed on the beach while night-fishing and came upon the five sleeping in the sand. The fishermen seized Koshuin, but his four companions fled.

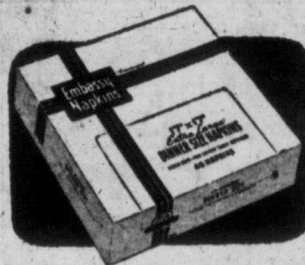

The four surrendered quietly yesterday to a navy expedition with help volunteered by Koshuin, who was convinced by kind treatment it was foolish for the Japanese to stay in hiding.

Koshuin rode with the expedition aboard a barge piloted by Boatsman's Mate Dan Newnan of Los Angeles.

"Americans are good to us, give 'em up. Americans are good," Koshuin shouted over a loudspeaker as the barge cruised back and forth along the four-mile beachfront.

When nothing happened, Koshuin went ashore in a rubber boat with Lt. Cmdr. Chester R. Carl, Boston, Mass.; Guam police investigator Donald Hardigree of Winder, Ga., and interpreter Edward Perez of Guam.

NOW IS THE TIME TO FERTILIZE FAMISHED LAWNS WITH UPLANDS SPECIAL!

FARMERS FALL FERTILIZE FOR PROFITS

PASTURE

The extremely dry summer has resulted in poor growth and a serious lack of hay and late fall pasture. It is imperative that pasture be fertilized to bring on fall growth and also put the pasture in shape to withstand the winter ahead. Buckersfield's have a wide range of fertilizers for this purpose, including 10-20-10 and Sulphate of Ammonia.

ORCHARDS

To restore tree vitality, nothing is so important as intelligent fertilizer application. Apply now, to give trees the necessary terminal growth and strengthen the fruit spurs. We recommend Ammonium Nitrate (34% N.), Ammonium Phosphate 16-20 or Sulphate of Ammonia (21% N.).

STRAWBERRIES

Here again, after the dry summer, special care is needed. The crowns of strawberry plants are now forming and this important growth should be aided by the use of good fertilizer. Consult your local Buckersfield's Branch Office as to the right fertilizer to do the job.

REMEMBER: The greatest per dollar return of any farm investment comes from the intelligent use of fertilizers.

After the dry summer months, B.C. lawns stand in dire need of plant food to bring back that spring green color and fortify the root system for the months ahead. Buckersfield's Uplands Special is not just one plant food... IT IS A COMBINATION OF EVERY REQUIRED NUTRIMENT, CHEMICAL AND ORGANIC, FOR FULL LUXURIANT GRASS GROWTH. It is economical and easy to use—apply evenly and water in well—3 lbs. per 100 square feet.

UPLANDS SPECIAL, a Complete Analysis of:

6 UNITS NITROGEN — 8 UNITS PHOSPHORIC ACID — 6 UNITS POTASH

This means "More Grow Power" for your Fertilizer Dollar!

FALL GARDEN AIDS... THE BEST FROM BUCKERFIELD'S

A small investment in your garden now will pay off handsomely next spring. Check your fall needs from these Buckersfield's products:

Bonemeal—ideal for fall bulbs and shrubs; assures strong stem growth and profuse flowering.

Lime—to neutralize acidity and sweeten the soil.

Peat Moss—for lawns and flowers. The ideal conditioner for B.C.'s sandy soil.

Lawn Seed—Buckersfield's has an unrivalled selection of domestic and imported grass seeds, either individual or blends.

BEDTIME STORY

Two things may look alike yet be diverse as any you will see.
—Old Mr. Toad.

Bluffer the Adder was disappointed. Yes, sir, he was very much disappointed. He had made up his mind to a good dinner and had been very sure of it. He had seen Old Mr. Toad disappear under that wide board Farmer Brown's boy had provided especially for his Toad friends. Alas, there was no one there. Bluffer looked everywhere, but not a Toad was to be found. He just couldn't believe it. He looked and looked. Where in the world could Old Mr. Toad have gone to? Bluffer coiled up to rest and to think it over. It was a nice place to rest. I suspect he didn't do much thinking, but he did rest. It was very comfortable and pleasant there.

It was a long time before Bluffer did go, but at long last he crawled out into the garden to look elsewhere for a dinner. It was late in the afternoon, almost time for jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun to go to bed behind the Purple Hills, before Old Mr. Toad moved. Then he slowly dug his way up instead of down. How did he know that? Bluffer had left? I suspect he didn't know. I suspect that he was just taking a chance, not too much of a chance because he had waited so long, but still something of a chance. Bluffer had gone. Old Mr. Toad crept over where he could look out from under that big board. He blinked his lovely golden eyes, for it was still daylight. A few moments later, he was joined by Young Toad, who had also been buried to escape that snake. For a long time the two Toads sat there side by side blinking their golden eyes in the lessening sunshine.

By and by the black shadows came creeping through Farmer Brown's garden. Old Mr. Toad hopped out and prepared to go hunting. He was hungry. Old Mr. Toad is a good eater. He picks here and he picks there, wherever there is anything to pick. He isn't fussy. A little bit here, a little bit there, or a feast if he happens to find one.

Young Toad also started out. He, too, was hungry. It seems to be a habit with Toads, although if they have to they can go as long as the next one without eating. Almost at once, Young Toad discovered an Earthworm crawling out of his hole in the ground. Young Toad's golden eyes gleamed with anticipation. He sat perfectly still waiting for that worm to get fully out of the ground. Welcome Robin would have grabbed that worm and pulled him out, but Young Toad waited until the tail of that big worm was out of the ground and a little away from the hole. Then Young Toad made a quick hop and grabbed the tail and began to swallow.

Old Mr. Toad chuckled. He chuckled and chuckled. "Trying to swallow him that way, he'll still go hungry," said Old Mr. Toad to himself. "He's beginning at the wrong end. He should have learned by this time that he can't swallow a big worm like that tail first."

If Young Toad hadn't learned before, he was learning now. Yes, sir, he was learning now.

Pickles Vetoes Use Of New Truck

With an eye on the budget, Reeve Sydney Pickles Tuesday night vetoed a Central Saanich Council motion to put its new public works truck in use.

His plan was to store the truck until a year's end analysis of expenditures showed whether the municipality could afford to keep the truck.

He used his first veto three months ago to hold up the original purchase of the truck.

Paper Drive Planned

The parent group of the First Parkdale Scouts and Cubs will sponsor a fund-raising paper drive on Saturday.

At a meeting attended by District Scout Commissioner Freeman King, the new Scoutmaster, Eric Fredin, and the new Cubmaster, J. McBay, were introduced. The second Wednesday of each month was set as the date for future meetings.

UNIQUE BET BOOMERANGS

LONDON (Reuters)—When Conservative Colonel Alan Gomme-Duncan told voters he would bet £1 to a trouser button his party will win the election Oct. 25, he never thought anybody would take him up on it.

Today the member for East Perth has more buttons, from people all over Britain, than he knows what to do with.

But the game politician said he will pay up if the Labor government gets a majority of one or more. If both major parties finish even he's going to return the buttons.

Plan To Net Defaulters On Premiums

A province-wide crackdown against hospital insurance dodgers is believed to be coming.

The special legislative committee which is inquiring into the service is expected next week to ask the Provincial Cabinet to approve recommendations to catch up with delinquents.

The inquiry board members are hoping to catch the estimated 30 per cent of the province's population not registered for the plan or behind in premiums.

RELIEF PENDING

The board may also recommend immediate financial relief for the 57 hospitals from which it has received briefs.

Another part of the recommendation may be suggested that once delinquents register and start paying advance premiums that they become immediately eligible for free hospital treatment. Under the present regulations, a delinquent is not eligible until all arrears are paid.

Construction Starts On 2 New Schools

Work has started on the new $300,000 junior-senior high school and $90,000 elementary school at Royal Oak.

The larger school will accommodate 250 children from Cordova Bay, Royal Oak and Prospect Lake, and the four-room elementary school will take 120 Royal Oak children. One heating plant will serve both schools.

McKinty & Sons, contractors, said the elementary school will be completed in January and the other in August.

Toronto Pair Occupy Suite For Royalty

LONDON (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitaker of Toronto, returning to Canada on the liner Empress of France after a holiday in Britain, occupy the suite that had been reserved for Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The Whitakers gave up their reservation when the royal visit was announced and regained it following the announcement that the royal couple would not travel by sea because of the King's illness. The Empress of France sailed yesterday.

FAVORITE MALE singer in three age groups in the U.S. is Nelson Eddy, according to a coast-to-coast Gallup poll conducted recently. The famous baritone will appear here in recital Oct. 10 at the Royal Theatre.

IN COURT

PROVINCIAL

Preliminary hearing of a charge of manslaughter against Carl H. Baillie, 730 Vancouver Street, was set for Oct. 2 in R.C.M.P. court.

The charge against Baillie arose from the two-car crash on the Sooke Road near Colwood Corners July 26 in which Mrs. Victor W. Jopp, Luxton, received fatal injuries.

A $35 fine and a six-month license suspension was imposed by Magistrate A. I. Thomas against C. W. Coomb, H.M.C.S. Naden, for careless driving. Coomb was in an accident on the Island Highway May 9.

For improperly loading lumber truck that turned over on the Island Highway, Sohan Singh Basl, Langford, was fined $10. Similar offences will draw stiffer fines in future, the magistrate warned.

VICTORIA

Kenneth Quan, 19-year-old Chinese resident of Earl Street, was fined $30 and $7.50 costs by Magistrate H. C. Hall on a charge of committing an indecent act. He had been found guilty on the offense at an earlier trial.

A fine of $35 was imposed against William B. Vint, 2 Gorge Road W., when he pleaded guilty to a charge of careless driving. Charge arose from a Sept. 19 collision in the city.

Rex Harrison, Lili Palmer Team Up In Film Project

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How would you, Mr. Jones, like to have the little lady accompany you to the office every day?

And you, Mrs. Smith—would you like to sell brushes door-to-door with your hubby?

Here are a husband and wife who have worked together for a year and they like it. But, they quickly add, they don't want to make it a habit.

Rex Harrison and Lili Palmer scored on Broadway last season in the frothy "Bell, Book and Candle." At present they are embarking on a most-unusual film project, "The Four-Poster." About their professional association, Harrison commented:

"It's stimulating to work together. We can spend much more time besides our working hours in developing the characters. I think it's ideal for roles in which you play married people. You get a much greater intimacy, which would take weeks to achieve if you were working with a strange actress."

"Oh, yes, it's much easier," agreed his wife. "But I don't think we shall do it often. Too much association can be wearing, even with one's own husband or wife. I'm sure a bank clerk wouldn't want to work side-by-side with his wife every working day."

"It's too difficult to find the proper vehicles, anyway," added Harrison. "The only ones who have been able to make a success of it have been Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, and they are quite the exception."

In "The Four-Poster" Mr. and Mrs. Harrison co-star with a bed. There is no one else in the cast. All hands hope it comes off.

"The entire story takes place in one house—in fact, in two bedrooms," Harrison explained. "It covers the important points in a couple's life from 1897 almost to the present. Included are their wedding night, the birth of their son, the husband's infidelity, the wife's infidelity, the beginning of her illness and her death."

Harrison admitted that such a subject and location might sound highly censorable. But, he claimed, it's entirely harmless.

"It's merely a story of the basic elements of any marriage."

"I WANT," said our sergeant, "precision... perfection, the brass is coming, so we'll have an inspection." "Will it be?" I asked "the same old grind?"

"Yes," he replied, "all shoes must be shined. And buttons too, and on everybody's cap, if YOU don't look smart, then I take the rap."

Arms drill we'll have, slope arms & present, & I don't wanna see ONE rifle bent. Slam in the bolts, make each one click. I want it fast... I want it slick. There'll be drill by platoons, & NO smirks on your faces, & YOU N.C.O.'s'll put the rest, thru their paces. "Holy Smokes," I thought, & this nite I could see, with one stripe up, this could mean ME. Came the big nite, we all stood pat, the "brass" was potty, had red round his hat. He began his stroll, looked us up & down, when he came to me, I detected a frown. But he didn't say boo, just carried on, all boots 'cept mine, glistened & shone. My back was giving me quite a pain, & so was "Potty," he kept slapping his cane. When this inspection was over, "at ease" we were stood, the only thing I thought... that was any good. Then the Sarg, brisked out, all spit & Sheen, to push us about in the rutty routine. Then we were "halted," & "order-arms," smack on the butts went hundreds of arms. Then he belov'd the name of an N.C.O., then around and around, again we did go. We followed each other like a flock of sheep, I could do these movements while fast asleep. My turn came... I shouted "S-H-U-N," so scared one guy... he dropped his gun. Slope-Arms," I followed, & it echoed back, then away they went on the same old tack. As they wheeled at the wall, a bright thought I had, I'd show this General I wasn't so bad; prove I'd initiative, on my own I could act, I was officer material & brains I packed. I screamed an order across the floor, a command that they'd never... ever heard before. For a moment they paused, this well-drilled machine, that I should DARE... to break the routine.

Then they wheeled to the right, obeying their lord, & I saw the eyes of this advancing horde. The guy in the front a dirty look had, in a spot I was, 'n' I knew it was bad. Just HOW... I thought, could now I shine, get them untangled, & back into line? I glowed-backed up, that front Joe was tall, I backed up so far, I got hung on the wall. I became mesmerized, on my lips there 'vas salt, my trap was sealed. I couldn't shout HALT. Smack up to me, yes... that's what they did, that big stiff in front, sed "YOU ASKED FOR IT KID." In the confusion, the sergeant's voice rang, all he could do, was dismiss the whole gang. I tried to slink off, weak was each knee, but the Sarg, glued with his eyes, sed, "YOU... FOLLOW ME."

By ART STOTT

Mrs. Ann Payson, head of a Hackensack, N.J., toy company, has announced that her firm will turn out no more penny banks for children. It will concentrate instead on small banks for nickels, dimes and quarters.

It is taking this course, Mrs. Payson says, because of the shortage of copper and the penny's lost appeal for children. Pennies, she says, buy very little today, "and most children do not show much appreciation for anything less than a dime."

If what she said were the complete truth, I would slip quietly down to the far corner of the soda fountain and weep silently into my chocolate malt. I would weep for the lost pride of purchase a child once knew as he bought a cent candy. I would weep for the vanished pleasure in a child's eye as he beheld a bright, shiny one-cent piece, which somehow seems to have a warmer beauty than the anemic token of silver.

BUT MRS. PAYSON is not quite correct. The young shopper who lives at our house tells me there is still a use for a penny. You can, he says, still buy two or three varieties of candy for a cent. They are, he adds wistfully, pathetically small. And if you want more than one for your penny, you find that three little sweets, no bigger than your finger nail, have a sort of clay taste.

Just the same, he explains, a guy needs pennies. Mrs. Payson may not have noticed, but you can't buy much for a nickel, either. You require the coppers to make up the difference between the nickel and the price of a revel or a nut bar. The pennies, he explains patiently, fill up the gap between the nickel and a dime. Oh yes, he declares with a fine air of authority, you still need pennies.

AND THERE'S THIS about them, too. You can ask your mother or father for a penny and you'll get one without argument. Ask for a nickel or a dime, and you're into that old wrangle about what have you done with your pocket money.

He'll agree that Mrs. Payson has a point, though. He'll explain about those chocolate-covered teddybears the stores used to sell—those and the licorice whips and the small suckers. He doesn't remember when they were a cent apiece, but he can recall, a year or two ago, when a guy could walk into a store and get one for two cents, or three for a nickel. Now he doesn't find them in his favorite stores and he thinks the standard of living has gone down all right.

When you ask him if kids don't appreciate anything less than a dime, he'll look a little puzzled, start a denial, and then point out that anything less than 10 cents won't buy a book—and you know what he means by a book.

WHAT HE'S SAYING is that kids, most kids, appreciate anything that's given to them, but that money doesn't mean much to them except in terms of what it will buy. If they're young enough, they'll play with a shiny coin, but if it's dull, or if they're older, they have the quaint idea that it's just a medium of exchange.

They don't have that upright, mature affection for money as money. It doesn't give them that sense of superiority or security an adult associates with a bank account. To them, it's only good in circulation and the penny has its place there. You can't purchase a fudge for a nickel, but put a couple of coppers with it, and the frozen dainty's yours.

1000-Mile Horseback Trek Ends

By DON INGHAM

Two pretty Victoria girls today reported the highlight of a 1,000-mile, nine-week trip by horseback through the wilds of B.C. was watching a newspaperman "eat his words." He didn't think they'd make it. But they rode through town here today.

The girls are Anne Wilson, Beaver Road, Saanich, and her near neighbor, Phyllis Elwell, Beaver Lake Road, who left here for Calgary by car June 18, bought horses there, and started their return trip July 5.

"It was wonderful," Anne said. "A complete mental rest. The only decisions we had to make were where to camp, and where to leave the horses. No telephones."

"It was cheap, too," Phyllis said, "but I don't want to see weiners and beans for the next six months." They slept out for all but four or five nights. One night, hearing a loud huffing and cuffling that each thought was the other, they suddenly felt a bear cub trying to get into their bedrolls.

"The mother was there with two more cubs," they said. "She stayed around camp for quite awhile."

Greatest trouble was finding someone to shoe their horses.

By-Election Campaign Near Final Round

Winding up his whirlwind campaign in Esquimalt township, Commander A. C. Wurtele, by-election candidate, will speak at Bolliermakers' Hall, Esquimalt Road, tonight at 8.

As he has been throughout his campaign, Cdr. Wurtele will be supported by Mrs. T. J. Rolston, Point Grey M.L.A., and W. A. C. Bennett, South Okanagan member of the Legislature.

"This is the climax," Mr. Bennett said today. "The gloves are off for the final round."

Other meetings tonight in outlying areas of the constituency include:

Percy George, supported by Minister of Finance Herbert Anscomb, at Sooke;

Premier Byron Johnson, supporting Mayor George, at Metchoin;

Frank Mitchell, C.C.F. candidate, at Colwood, and Keith Gray, Independent Labor, at Langford.

Archibald McIntyre has announced no scheduled meeting.

Police have ascertained the orders were placed by phone.

URGES LEGAL EXPERTS GUIDE LABOR CONCILIATION CASES

Need for judges or other legal authority to act as chairman of labor conciliation boards was stressed by contractor George Wheaton at a meeting Wednesday of Chamber of Commerce directors.

"Decisions of these boards should be brought in by fully qualified men with judicial experience," he said. "We have had far too many left-hand decisions, and botched-up conciliation awards."

The question arose from a suggestion by the Civic Affairs Group that conciliation boards should be increased in number, from three to five.

This found little favor with the directors, who passed the suggestion back to the group for further consideration. Mayor Percy George, supporting Mr. Wheaton, considered any addition to the numbers of the board would merely add to the problems and the expense. He thought a permanent board would be an asset.

Two Girl Artists Win Valuable Music Awards

Scholarships amounting to $600 per year for three years study at the Royal Academy of Music, London, have been awarded to two Vancouver Island girls, Marion Gibbs of Victoria and Lila Wong, Nanaimo.

Announcement was made today by the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music.

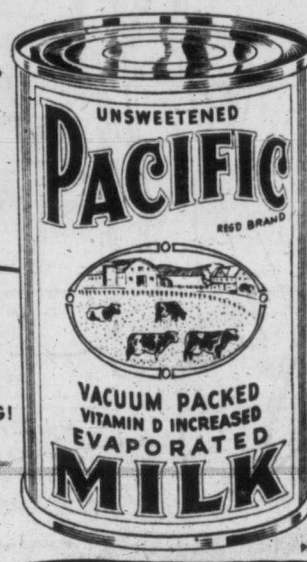

Miss Gibbs, 18, a pianist, is the daughter of Oak Bay Reeve and Mrs. P. A. Gibbs, 773 Island Road. Now in her second year at Victoria College, she is president of the students' council, first girl to hold the position.

Concertmaster and star violinist of Nanaimo Symphony Orchestra, Lila Wong, 18, was graduated from Nanaimo High School last June, and planned to major in music at university in the United States this fall.

Under terms of the scholarship, the girls must be in England by September, 1952, to commence their studies.

HANS SLAPPED

Overspent Budget On Artists

Maestro Hans Gruber was slapped on the wrist by directors of Victoria Symphony Society Wednesday night for overspending his budget by $150 in the matter of guest artists.

Earlier this year, symphony directors set a maximum of $1,200 for this purpose. Gruber announced yesterday that he had contracted for $1,350.

Faced with a deficit, president J. F. K. English called for "disciplinary action" at last night's meeting.

In explanation, the youthful maestro said: "I made a mistake. I am sorry. I will not do it again."

When directors asked him if he could not pare his budget $150 by re-negotiating with guest artists, Gruber refused. After some discussion, he said:

'PAY IT MYSELF'

"If we are in the hole at the end of the season, I will pay the $150 myself."

Morris V. Chesnut, local radio official, made a motion that Gruber's offer be accepted, but it was defeated.

Seven guest artists were hired by Gruber, to appear in six concerts, the first of which is next Wednesday night.

Already 950 season's tickets have been sold, promising a record year. Realization of the target of 1,000 pre-season sale will leave about 400 "rush" seats for each concert.

Gruber announced Wednesday that he had engaged "one of the best French horn players in the country" for his orchestra. He is Hans Stelzner, a German immigrant who arrived in Canada just two months ago. Mr. Stelzner is now in Victoria and rehearsing with the orchestra for Wednesday's premiere.

The directors held their meeting Wednesday at Fore Bay, Jordan River. They were the guests of the B.C. Electric Company which took them on a tour over their Jordan River hydro-electric system. Chamber president Ernest W. Arnott, who is vice-president of B.C. Electric, acted as host to the visitors.

Secretary George Warren was told to send a "tough" letter to the ministry of public works, and to send a copy to local M.P. Robert Mayhew.

C.C.L. Machinists Ignore Picket Line

Navy 'Regrets' Government Men
Stay Home From Dockyard Job

By DAVE STOCK

There were many developments today in the local shipyard boilermakers' strike. They tended to clarify the general picture, which on Wednesday, first day of the walkout, was a muddle of confusion.

The situation now is this:

Work at Victoria Machinery Depot, Yarrow's Ltd. and the government drydock at Esquimalt is practically at a standstill. Majority of the tradesmen who passed through picket lines Wednesday stayed at home.

Only workmen to report for duty in any strength were C.C.L. machinists employed by V.M.D. Numbering about 70, they ignored T.L.C. boilermaker pickets at both V.M.D. plants and at the government drydock as well.

C.C.L. machinists at Yarrow's did not report for work. Also staying at home were government-employed boilermakers and welders, who were supposed to be working on the cruiser Quebec in drydock.

They decided Wednesday not to cross the picket line at the entrance to the drydock. When instructed to proceed with their work, they—according to the navy—"Left the dockyard."

The navy, in a terse statement, said this action was "regretted."

The statement pointed out that normally, H.M.C. dockyards did not become involved in disputes between local shipyards and unions.

Ask Government Intervention

Another new development was that the Victoria Joint Shipyard Council—a delegate body representing all shipyard unions except the striking boilermakers and the C.C.L. machinists—submitted a formal request to the B.C. Labor Relations Board to intervene in the strike and attempt to bring about settlement.

The council represents about 800 men who are at present respecting the boilermakers' picket lines.

D'Arcy Baldwin, chairman of the labor board, replied the board could only act if invited to do so by one of the parties directly involved.

As far as the two sides directly involved in the dispute are concerned, it is again a question of each waiting for the other to make the next move.

John Meadley, president of the boilermakers' union, reported the union was well pleased with the increased support given the strike by allied tradesmen.

This move, he explained, was to stop a railway barge conversion job being taken from V.M.D. and a C.N.R. tugboat refit taken from Yarrow's.

A spokesman for Yarrow's reiterated that the offer last put forward to the boilermakers was the best that could be made.

He said the offer made would provide the boilermakers with an additional $552 a year. He said that it would cost the companies more than $1,000 a year per man to meet demands of the union.

He maintained the yards could not meet these demands as (1) it would not be fair to other tradesmen who recently settled for the $352 a year, and (2) the costs would be too heavy to allow continuation of competition with Vancouver yards.

Temptation For British Leather Too Much For Me

By PENNY SAVER

Let's really be extravagant today! I know you'll probably be furious with me for tempting you with all these luxuries, but I really couldn't resist the temptation myself.

I was out this morning around my favorite haunts when I was confronted with a display of luxurious leather tying in with British Leather Week.

When I first looked I said, "Whoops! That's a little out of my line."

But I must admit I gave it another look and before I knew it I was copying down prices and was completely enthralled with all the wonderful things sent to us from the British Isles.

Honestly, I just about died with envy when I saw the leather beauty kit equipped with two cream jars, a powder jar, lotion jars, and two extra compartments for bobby-pins and trinkets. There was even a separate little pouch for Kleenex or facial tissues. It really was a beauty and was decorated with a price tag marked, $23.50.

On very much the same style and for the same price was an English leather jewel case lined with suede. Removable trays and a partition for rings were an added feature. It also had protective pads of suede to cover the jewel partitions.

A sewing kit encased with a zipper and with every imaginable gadget for sewing in it was next to catch my eye. It was priced at $11.50 and was built to last a lifetime.

A manicure set in the same type of case was also this price. It was fitted with enough equipment to make anyone's hands look more beautiful.

Ideal for a presentation was the fine calf bill fold they displayed with matching key case. It was bound with attractive thonging and cost $17.50 for the set. English leather wallets alone started at $5.50.

For men I found leather tie cases at $9.50 and handkerchief cases at $7.50.

Travelling slippers in an oblong leather case were priced at $5.95.

This is actually just a peek at the numerous articles of value and quality that you can purchase in British leather.

Opening date will be announced.

National Women's Council Reports, Married Women In Jobs, Crime Comics

MONTREAL (CP)—Surveys showing that larger numbers of married women are entering the employment field because of the increased cost of living were presented this week to National Council of Women.

The surveys, by local committees, were embodied in a report by Mrs. Roy Campbell, Regina, national convener of the council's trades and professions committee.

During the last year the council concentrated on "the older woman in employment" as one phase of the national theme, "The Canadian Family." Results indicate that, on the whole, the labor picture across Canada appears "quite bright."

Vancouver reported that married women accounted for much of the increase in the number of women entering employment in British Columbia. Employers were beginning to realize women must be employed for the work they can do, and not according to marital status or age. Nurses were in good supply but teachers were needed. A slight demand was reported for laboratory technicians and air stewardesses. The United Church is seeking 125 young women annually for work in Christian education and other fields both in Canada and in foreign countries.

MUST BE QUALIFIED

Victoria reported an increasing number of women seeking employment, largely because of the higher cost of living or the seasonal unemployment of the husband. The committee found that positions are always available for trained, qualified women, even the older women with special skill and experience.

The Council of Women was told today that a sharp increase in the number of "highly dramatic crimes" in recent years is largely attributable to "the sad plight of the modern, so-called literature."

Mrs. C. L. Pearson, Toronto, in her report as chairman of the council's committee on cinema and printed matter, said such crimes usually follow "one or the other of the threadbare patterns of trashy books."

Reports from local committees indicated active work in promoting the use of library facilities, enlisting the co-operation of theatre managers, endeavoring to have undesirable films and literature eliminated, and encouraging the showing of good films.

A report from Victoria severely criticized lurid comics, while commending teachers who endeavored to supplement these with good reading material from the public library. The Victoria committee had also insisted strongly that hoodlumism be curbed at Hal-lowe'en.

Barbara Brent's BUYS AND WHYS

MONTREAL, Sept. 27th—I often wondered what made the Cheshire Cat in Walt Disney's "Alice in Wonderland" grin so much. Then I decided he'd just finished something very extra special to eat—something like JELL-O PUDDINGS. I've noticed the same pleased expression on the faces of the family when they've enjoyed a milk-rich, satisfying Jell-O Pudding dessert... not that I blame them! And when I think how easily and economically such delicious desserts can be prepared with Jell-O Puddings, I know I'm just as happy to serve them as the family is to eat them. Serve a Jell-O Pudding tonight for dessert and watch the same "Cheshire Cat smile" appear!

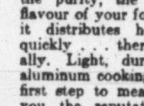

It Won't Be Long before our Royal Visitors, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, come to Canada from England. And, speaking of England, reminds me of London, its great and beautiful capital. Most famous of London sights is a fascinating Piccadilly Circus, dominated by the huge Bovril sign. And, right at the heart of the city, Bovril is truly an English "tradition"...

... (Bovril and biscuits are equally good at eleven in the evening, too, I've found. And... m-m-m-m!—savory Bovril makes the ideal meat-extender... used in soups, gravies, vegetable dishes and as a sandwich-spread! Ask your grocer for Bovril—in three forms—Concord, Concentrate and Cubes.)

What A Team! That's how I feel about us—Personal Planning and me. You can hardly blame me, considering how we have been regularly beating the daylights out of the Cost of Living! Time was when rising costs used to throw me for a loss every pay-day. Now, thanks to this BANK OF MONTREAL system each pay-check sees me still carrying the ball and going strong! Best of all, each victory is clearly marked up on the credit side of my bank account. Why don't you give this wonderful, completely personal plan the Old College Try? Ask for your free copy of the booklet "PERSONAL PLANNING" at your neighborhood branch of the B of M. Then start right in piling up those touchdowns in your savings account!

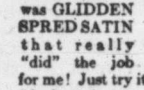

Ever Since Grandma thrilled to her first aluminum pans, aluminum has been a kitchen favorite in homes and hospitals across Canada. Easy to understand why! For aluminum is friendly to food... the proof's in the eating! Aluminum protects the purity, the taste and good flavor of your food. What's more, it distributes heat evenly and quickly... therefore, economically. Light, durable, clean... aluminum cooking utensils are the first step to meals that will give you the reputation of being a good cook! That's why so many mothers do more than teach their daughters how to select and prepare food; they teach them the value of good cooking utensils, too!

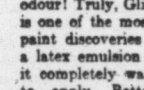

"Proud As A Peacock" of my painting job... but I have to admit that it is a job that really "did" the job for me! Just try it! You'll be astonished at the ease with which this wonderful indoor paint goes on... at the way it dries in just twenty minutes to a smooth-as-satin finish. And there's no offensive odor! Truly, Glidden Spread Satin is one of the most exciting indoor paint discoveries in years! It has a latex emulsion base that makes it completely washable—and easy to apply. Better choose your Spread Satin from your Glidden dealer now. There's a glorious variety of 60 pastel shades and deep, decorator colors to choose from—and you'll be sure to get what you want if you "shop early"...

When You Have That "Sad Cat" Feeling... or when hubby complains that he feels "gosh-awful" in the morning—you can take a harsh laxative that irritates your insides. But I think you'll like "my way" better—and I know your insides will prefer this healthy, natural regulator. Take the juice of a fresh lemon in a glass of water the first thing when you get up. See how quickly it alkalizes your system so you feel GOOD again! So take my tip—if you're feeling low and grumpy—follow this healthy lemon formula for feeling better. And remember—always use SUNKIST CALIFORNIA LEMONS. You see, they're the finest, juiciest grown!

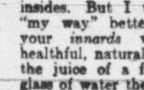

They'll Last Through Many 2 Housecleaning these wonderful C-I-L Cellulose SPONGES! There's a handy size for every purpose... from washing walls, windows and woodwork to waxing floors and polishing furniture! Soft as velvet when wet, C-I-L Sponges are kind to the finest finishes. Their square shape makes it easy to get into cracks and crevices—and when they're squeezed almost dry, they're ideal for dusting. Easy to keep clean, too! Just wash or boil. Ask for C-I-L Cellulose Sponges at grocery, drug, variety, department or hardware stores. The C-I-L label is your assurance of quality!

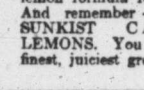

Can Denticillin, The New Penicillin Tooth Powder, really help save your family's teeth as never before possible? I'm convinced it can. For, in a 3-year test among school children, Denticillin reduced decay an average of 56%—5 times the reduction reported for a leading university's ammoniated formula. And that's not all. 3 out of 5 children using Denticillin developed no new cavities whatsoever, in each individual year of the test! (On an average, cavities attack the teeth of children 6 to 18 years of age at the rate of almost one every year.) Doesn't your family deserve the benefits of Denticillin? Tastes wonderful. Cleans teeth wonderfully. 75¢ for 3 months' supply. Why not get a bottle today?

For All Of Us who are in the midst of our Fall Clean-Up Campaign, here's a tip. Get your housecleaning done during your housecleaning day by starting with a good breakfast with 5 Minute "CREAM OF WHEAT". This easy-to-prepare treat takes just a few minutes to cook to taste-tempting goodness. Good for you, too! Provides iron for good red blood—and Calcium and Phosphorus for diets deficient in these elements. You, you get going in top form when you go to work with "Cream of Wheat". The words "Cream of Wheat" and the smiling chef on the package are registered trade marks of The Cream of Wheat Corporation and Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.

It's Important to give your school-age youngsters something they like to eat—as well as a nutritious luncheon dish that's hot and nourishing. Well, wonderful KRAFT DINNER is a happy combination of downright deliciousness and wholesome nourishment. In every package of "Kraft Dinner" is a special, fast-cooking macaroni that cooks to fluffy lightness in only 7 minutes. And, in the same package—cheddar cheese, already grated; to sprinkle in for rich, cheese flavour! What's more, this nutritious dish costs just pennies a serving—and there are servings for four in every package. One of the healthiest main-course dishes I know... it's a "must" for your "emergency shelf"!

Bride's Parents Travel To Ottawa For Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips Kennett, Cedar Hill Road, were in Ottawa earlier this month to attend the marriage of their daughter, Patricia Maude Louise Kennett, to Ernest August Oestreicher, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Oestreicher.

Rev. Serson Clarke officiated at the ceremony in St. Luke's Anglican Church.

Traditional wedding music was played as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father.

Delicate blue lace fashioned the ankle-length bridal gown which was complemented with a hat made of the bride's grandmother's orange blossoms. Her arm bouquet was peach gladioli and tallsmen roses.

Miss June Clarke, the bride's only attendant, chose a gown of gold taffeta with matching hat.

To Speak On Burma At Women's Club

"Burma Today" will be the topic of an address to be given by Dr. F. T. Fairley to the Women's Canadian Club Tuesday at 2:45 p.m. in the Empress Hotel ballroom.

Dr. Fairley, who returned to Victoria last June after an absence of seven months in Burma, will illustrate his subject with colored slides.

Born in England, Dr. Fairley came to Canada in 1907 and received his B.A. and L.L.D. from University of British Columbia. He was vice-principal, Vancouver Technical School, and acted as director of technical education in the provincial government for seven years. He was appointed deputy minister of education in 1945.

Early in 1950 the Burma government requested Unesco to send an education mission to Burma and Canada was asked to provide a member. Because it was understood that the Canadian member was to be responsible for technical, vocational and secondary education Dr. Fairley was asked to undertake the job.

Wed Quietly In Vancouver

Helen Evelyn Evans, daughter of Mrs. Alfred A. Evans, Vancouver, and late Mr. Evans, was united in marriage recently with William Stuart Telford, Vancouver, formerly of Guelph, Ont.

Padre R. W. Turpin officiated at the quiet ceremony in Ryerson United Church.

The bride is on the staff of the Shaughnessy Hospital and the groom is office manager of Mutual Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Vancouver branch.

Mrs. Lyle Flury, Victoria, was matron of honor and Bob McIntosh was best man.

A luncheon at Point Grey Golf Club followed the ceremony.

Interest Shared Recent Wedding In St. Paul's Naval Garrison Church

Victoria, Vancouver, and Port Dalhousie, Ont., shared interest in the recent marriage in St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church, of Marilyn Anne Jacques, daughter of Mrs. J. P. Harris, Port Dalhousie, Ont., and Joseph Frederick Harris, R.C.N., son of Mr. Frederick Harris, Vancouver, and late Mrs. Harris. Rev. A. E. Hendy officiated.

White and gold chrysanthemums decorated the church for the occasion. Stanley Martin sang the "Lord's Prayer."

J. P. Harris gave his step-daughter in marriage.

She was gown in white lace over taffeta fashioned with portrait neckline and full skirt slightly en train. Her veil of illusion net misted from a Juliet cap trimmed with pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white feathered carnations and pink roses.

Mrs. Gordon Goldie and Mrs. John Lutton were the bride's attendants. Mrs. Goldie was gown in deep green iridescent taffeta.

and Mrs. Lutton chose a gown toned in bronze. They both carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

James Barber, R.C.N., was best man, and Gordon Goldie, R.C.N., was an usher.

Bronze and white chrysanthemums.

"Both mother and I made the same mistake!"

"When I got married I just naturally started baking the way Mother always did. But not any more. My modern cookbook taught me something. It explained that you need an extra fine flour milled from the softer kinds of wheat to make really tender cakes and pastry. So I started using Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour for all my non-yeast baking. Honestly, I never knew I could bake so well. So light... so tender. And the texture's a dream. Now Mother's using Monarch Cake and Pastry Flour too. She's gone modern."

33-Year-Old Seaman Is Man Without a Country

VANCOUVER (CP)—Jose Correa De Lemos Maher, a 33-year-old seaman, is a man without a country.

Born in Shanghai of Portuguese parentage, he fled China to escape Communist occupation and has traveled around the world several times.

He escaped from his homeland four years ago, and has been in many strange ports.

Maher tried to enter the United States—he has a sister in California—but the Chinese non-racial quota was closed.

He arrived here Wednesday as a crew member aboard the steamship Buccaneer.

Maher, who prior to leaving Shanghai was a clerk, is an accomplished linguist and at sea studies to prepare himself for a shore job.

Like seaman-writer Jack London, he tries to improve himself at sea.

"But even Jack London had a home port," said Maher sadly.

NESCAFÉ CUTS COFFEE COSTS

as much as 40¢

a pound

Even the 4 oz. jar—though costing far less—makes as many cups as a whole pound of ordinary coffee. The big 12 oz. family size jar saves even more.

No waste with Nescafé—you make just what you use. No messy grounds. *Nescafé is specially processed to stay fresh to the last spoonful.

for PURE COFFEE ENJOYMENT more Canadian coffee-lovers are drinking Nescafé than all other instant coffees combined.

*Nescafé (pronounced NES-CAFAY) is the exclusive registered trade mark of Nestlé's Milk Products (Canada) Limited to designate its soluble coffee product which is composed of equal parts of pure soluble coffee and added pure carbohydrates (dextrose, maltose and dextrin) added solely to protect the flavor.

Ground Search For Lost Pilot Is Called Off

R.C.A.F. Continues Air Hunt, However

EDMONTON (CP)—Lack of clues and the advent of wintry weather have forced the R.C.A.F. to abandon its far north ground search for bush pilot Johnny Bourassa.

The air force withdrew the ground searchers yesterday. They had spent three fruitless weeks scouring a wilderness of bush and countless lakes and streams in the Northwest Territories southeast of Yellowknife without picking up Bourassa's trail.

But the R.C.A.F. announced the air search for the Peace River, Alta., pilot, about 30, will be continued for the next few days until it has covered all of the 57,000 square miles in which Bourassa could possibly be.

The bush pilot, an expert woodsman with a keen knowledge of north country survival, has been missing since May 18. Discovery of his damaged plane on the rocky shore of Wholdala Lake, 375 miles southeast of Yellowknife, prompted the air force to reopen the search for him Sept. 5. It had been called off 2½ months before.

LEFT NOTE

A note left by Bourassa—first indication he was alive and of sound health—sparked the renewed search. In the note Bourassa said he stayed with his plane five days and then set out on foot for settlements along the southern shore of Great Slave Lake, 200 air miles to the northwest.

A temporary camp 10 miles southwest of the downed aircraft was the only point on Bourassa's trail picked up by the ground searchers, woodsmen and trappers who were personal friends of the pilot.

He left no blazed trail as hoped and the ground searchers conceded that the area to be searched was too vast without this vital guidance.

It is generally believed that Bourassa figured he was much closer to Great Slave Lake than Wholdala Lake when he started his overland trek.

City Wages Lure Rural Medics

EDMONTON (CP)—Big wages and living luxuries offered by cities are contributing factors in the declining number of general medical practitioners in Canada's rural areas, Dr. H. B. Church of Aylmer, Que., said Wednesday.

Dr. Church, president of the Canadian Medical Association, addressed the annual convention of the association's Alberta branch. He said the problem of getting medical graduates to take up rural practices is being studied by the Dominion association.

Election of officers of the Oak Bay Progressive Conservative Association will be held at the annual meeting next Tuesday evening at 8, at St. Mary's Hall, Yale Street. Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb will be one of the guest speakers.

AP Editors Urge Break With Czechs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A special investigating committee of the Associated Press Managing Editors' Association urged a full break in diplomatic relations with Communist Czechoslovakia if all other means fail to win release of imprisoned AP correspondent William N. Oatis. The committee's report was prepared for 250 editors meeting in their four-day annual appraisal of domestic and foreign news problems.

129 In The Shade

CAIRO (AP)—An Arab news agency dispatch says temperatures reaching 129 degrees in the shade have caused the deaths of 700 Moslem pilgrims at Mecca. The heat wave comes at the peak of the yearly pilgrimage season.

Pertinent Facts on the BOILERMAKERS' STRIKE at the Victoria Steel Shipyards are satisfied with new wage and working conditions which are for a mechanic, working full time:

Wage, $1.85 per hour, 8 paid statutory holidays and two weeks paid annual holiday.

This wage enables a steady worker to earn approximately $310.00 per month.

ONE UNION

The Boilermakers, of whom only a small majority voted for a strike, is not satisfied with the conditions agreed upon by other unions and are now on strike to enforce the following demands:

1. A 50c per hour wage increase over their present wage of $1.60 per hour.
2. Double time for all overtime.
3. Time and a quarter for all repair work.
4. Company to pay 50% of hospital insurance assessment.
5. 4% of gross earnings (including overtime) for annual paid holidays.
6. Escalator clause at .01½c per point of government cost of living index change.
7. Pay for all statutory holidays.

COST OF LIVING

In 1939, the date on which the cost of living index is based, a boilermaker's wage was 90c per hour. The cost of living up to July of this year had risen 87.6%, and if wages had been based on this it would have brought them to $1.69 per hour. The shipyards offer $1.85, an increase of 16c over and above the cost of living rise.

In the last year cost of living has risen barely 12%, which would mean an increase of only 19c per hour, yet the shipyards are offering 25c.

THIS STRIKE THREATENS TO THROW 1,200 MEN OUT OF WORK WITH A LOST PAYROLL FOR VICTORIA OF OVER $300,000 PER MONTH

Victoria Shipyards Must Meet Competitive Costs

To grant the demands of the Boilermakers' Union would force cost of construction in Victoria yards above those in Vancouver, thus eliminating Victoria steel shipyards in this highly competitive field.

The Outcome of This Dispute Is Vital to the Welfare of Every Man, Woman and Child in Victoria

These indisputable facts are presented by Victoria's steel shipyards.

National Chairman Gets Irked Queries

Boyle Faces Unfriendly Questions Of Senate Investigating Committee

WASHINGTON (UP)—Democratic National Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. faced the unfriendly questions today of a Senate investigation committee for which he once worked under President Truman.

Boyle's "influence," his dealings with the R.F.C., and his financial relationships with his former law associate Max Siskind and the American Lithofold Corp., are under inquiry by the Senate permanent investigating committee.

The committee is the successor—one member called it "direct lineal descendant"—of the war investigating committee which Mr. Truman made famous as a Senator. Boyle served on its staff as an investigator. Now the roles were reversed.

Boyle was called to testify (at 10 a.m. EDT) after the committee, now headed by Sen. Clyde R. Hoey, D. N.C., forced Siskind to give details last night of the $150,000 deal by which Boyle "sold" his law cases to him when Boyle went to the Democratic National Committee as paid vice-chairman on April 29, 1949.

PREPARED STATEMENT
Siskind also admitted that the statement he gave the committee early yesterday was prepared with the help of Sam Brightman, assistant publicity director at National Democratic headquarters.

Siskind, whose testimony ran for more than 12 hours off and on, said he asked Brightman, a "close friend," to help him with his statement. He said he didn't know if the statement was mimeographed for press distribution at Democratic headquarters.

And, after long protests, he gave the names of 20 of the 23 clients he "bought" from Boyle. He was not required to name the other three because their cases did not involve the government.

Sen. Richard M. Nixon, R. Calif., told reporters it was "significant" that many of the cases landed with Boyle in early 1949, about the time he was named executive vice-chairman of the Democratic committee.

MUST SERVE SENTENCE
Appeal court rejected the appeal against sentence of a 14-year-old Nanaimo boy convicted at Nanaimo by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts on Aug. 21 of car theft and breaking and entering offences. He will serve a two-year sentence in Oakalla's young offenders' jail.

BRUCE TELLS PRINCESS

Welcome As Monarch Because System Works

Canadians are not interested in queenship as it existed in the past, but still are intensely loyal to the throne.

This is the gist of "A Letter to the Princess" by Times editor Bruce Hutchison appearing in this month's issue of Chatelaine Magazine.

Written in anticipation of the royal tour, the letter recalls how Canadians have rebelled through the years against any domination by the British throne, but tells the Princess:

"... they gladly accept your father and will welcome you as the monarch of Canada who happens to live in London. They are loyal to the throne, not with any worship of the principal of royalty, any belief in nobility or birth, but for long-trying and practical reasons — because, in short, our present constitutional system, contrary to all logic, works better than any alternative yet devised."

Royal Roads School To Open On Monday

John H. Stubbs Memorial School at Belmont naval married quarters, Royal Roads, will open Monday.

Registration for children attending kindergarten and Grades 1 to VI, inclusive, will be Thursday morning at 10 at the school.

Artificial Heart Gives "Assist"

PARIS (AP)—An artificial heart has been used successfully for the first time in surgical history to give an "assist" to the normal heart in saving human life. An Italian surgeon reported on the operation today at the 14th Congress of the International Society of Surgeons.

Dr. A. M. Dogliotti, professor of surgery at the University of Turin, said that last August a 50-year-old patient was brought to his clinic suffering from a large tumor which squeezed the right side of the heart.

To aid the heart, Dogliotti substituted an artificial heart for 20 minutes while he cut out the tumor and then returned the blood to normal circulation. The patient is alive and well.

Clothing Collected For Storm Victims

One hundred and fifty pounds of clothing has been collected by B.C. government employees in Victoria for hurricane victims in Jamaica.

Fifteen large parcels of summer-weight clothing, gathered through the B.C. Government Employees' Association, were shipped out Monday.
